CYPRUS PEACE FORCE

Canada Won't Stick To Three-Month Limit

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—The Canadian government is prepared to leave its peace-keeping force in Cyprus for considerably longer than the three-month period set by the United Nations.

Hopes that the quarrels between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots will be settled in the three-month period are not too high in Canadian government circles.

There is, in fact, concern that the Canadian and other UN peace force contingents on the Mediterranean island might be asked to leave after three months, with nothing having been accomplished in settling the bitter differences between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

SEEK MEDIATOR

In the meantime, the Canadian government will vigorously press through diplomatic and United Nations channels to get speedy appointment of a UN mediator so it can get started on the job of trying to reach a settlement.

But officials here are not too optimistic that the task can be accomplished by June when the peace force operation's term is up.

The most optimistic target date for a settlement is by early fall. It is left negotiations on a settlement will be speeded by the approach at that time of the annual meeting of the UN General Assembly, with the parties involved expected to be anxious to be able to tell the UN the situation is under control.

FOR MEDIATION

It also was learned here that the Canadian government is opening a small diplomatic mission in Nicosia "for the duration."

Canada's ambassador to London already is accredited to Cyprus, but operates out of Tel Aviv. The purpose of the mission is under consideration.

POSSIBLE mediator in Cyprus dispute is Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada. Now Canada's permanent representative at the Geneva disarmament negotiations, Burns has previous UN peacekeeping experience in UN's Middle East force. Also being considered for post is Rolf Bennett, a member of the UN secretariat.

Van Doos Land In Quiet Cyprus

Times News Service

NICOSIA — An additional 222 Canadian troops were due in Cyprus tonight for the United Nations peace force. The island itself was unusually quiet.

Although tension between Greek and Turkish Cypriots remained high, no shooting was reported Sunday. Arrival of the Canadian troops was considered to have had a calming effect.

Five more RCAF transport planes were due in Nicosia today. Members of the Royal 22nd Regiment boarded the planes Sunday at Quebec.

Additional troops were to depart by air today from Quebec and Halifax. The Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure was being loaded at Halifax for departure Wednesday with 180 soldiers and 60 vehicles.

Canadian officials hope to have the entire Canadian contingent of 1,150 men in Cyprus by March 24. An advance party of 100 soldiers and more came in three planes during the weekend.

Finland, Sweden and Ireland also have promised troops for the international force, but there was no word here when they would arrive. Secretary-General U. Thant hopes to create a UN police force of 7,000 men, including 3,500 members of the greatest British peacekeeping contingent on Cyprus.

London's Premier, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, said troops would arrive in London Sunday for a parade, then that there was a flood of volunteers for his country's pledged contingent of 300 men.

British Troops Stay On Island

LONDON (Reuters)—No plans have been made for the immediate withdrawal of any British troops in Cyprus, a well-informed source said here Sunday.

The British force, which now numbers some 5,000 men, has been keeping the peace on Cyprus since pre-Christmas fighting broke out between the Greek and Turkish communities on the Mediterranean island.

The source said Britain was likely to provide some 3,500 troops for the United Nations peace-keeping bases in Cyprus.

London's Premier, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, said troops would arrive in London Sunday for a parade, then that there was a flood of volunteers for his country's pledged contingent of 300 men.

Surveyors Surrounded Fear Death 'One by One'

LOOT SOUGHT

Storms Lash U.K., Kill Three

LONDON (AP)—Gales and blizzards today left Britain with at least three dead—and set off a search for loot from the great train robbery.

Search parties set out at dawn for two Rover Scouts missing in a snowstorm on the wild North Derbyshire moors. The body of a third scout was recovered Sunday.

Other victims were a Lancashire man who died in a snow-drift and a yachtsman whose dinghy capsized on the south coast.

Widespread floods covered farmlands in southern England. The Automobile Association reported six Scottish trunk roads blocked by snow.

For Mrs. Henrika van Dyke, 26-year-old Dutch nurse, the storm brought shipwreck on her honeymoon.

She was aboard the Dutch coaster Merak, with her husband, the ship's chief engineer. The ship ran aground on a bank 15 miles from the Essex shore and was battered by huge waves.

Shivering and weeping after rescue, Mrs. Van Dyke said: "I thought we were all going to drown. It was terrifying. It was my first voyage—and I'll never forget it."

The Walton lifeboat took off the honeymooners and the six others in the crew. Later the Merak was refloated and was towed into the Thames.

The gold rush started along 20 miles of Kent beaches between Margate and Dover, where the gales washed up wreckage from the yacht Christine, mysterious element in Britain's great train robbery.

The Christine sank in the Thames estuary in January while under charter to "three men who vanished with her."

The yacht's owner, service station manager Edward Anderson, 35, has told police he believes she carried three bags containing £1,000,000 ($3,000,000) of the train robbery loot.

Ottawa moved today to place veterans' hospitals under control and operation of community authorities.

Russians Let U.S. Doctor Visit Airman

BERLIN (UPI)—The Russians said today they are holding three American airmen who were shot down over East Germany and said one of them is in a Red Army hospital.

U.S. Army spokesmen said the Russians said they will allow an American military doctor to visit the wounded airman.

The doctor is now on his way to the Red Army hospital at Magdeburg, East Germany, the spokesmen said.

The Russians said the wounded man's injuries are "not serious," the spokesmen said.

However the Soviets "refused to give any information on the other two fliers," army spokesmen said.

It was the first Russian word on the three airmen whom they accuse of manning a "spy plane." A Soviet fighter shot down their RB66 jet reconnaissance bomber last Tuesday.

CONDITIONS SET

The minister made it clear however that certain conditions must be met where transfer of control takes place.

The community institution must provide immediate accommodation for treatment of service-connected disabilities and treatment standards must not decrease.

Other classes of veterans (those who require treatment or domiciliary care or outpatient care for ailments not connected with their service) must also be cared for in their own communities.

And arrangements must be made for continued employment of professional and other staff of present veterans' hospitals.

METHOD ONLY

The minister stated that there is no change in the policy of affording veterans the best of medical service although some change in method may occur.

The proposed step was recommended last year by the Glasse Royal Commission enquiring into federal government operations. It was immediately opposed by the Royal Canadian Legion.

The minister explained that veterans' hospitals were originally designed to rehabilitate a

Indians Rampage In Peru Jungle

LIMA (Reuters)—Members of a survey party surrounded by hostile Indians in the East Peru jungle for five days today sent out a radio appeal saying "they want to exterminate us one by one."

"They are firing every five minutes," the appeal said.

"Do something please."

The message, picked up in Iquitos and reported here, said some members of the party were "on the edge of madness" due to heat and rain and "thousands of Indians screaming like animals in the jungle."

According to the report, the Indians were tightening the circle around the party, who were entrenched on a hill.

The Peruvian air force planned to send a helicopter in attempt to rescue members of the survey party from the hill-top, near the Galvez River, 50 miles from Requena.

Reports reaching here said army troops sent out from Requena Friday through the jungle still had not reached the trapped survey party.

Food and medical supplies have been airdropped to the survey party and air force jets have strafed the surrounding jungle in hope of dispersing the Indians.

A Peruvian gunboat tried to reach the trapped men by river.

Indian casualties in the fight were officially put at more than 20.

A report from Iquitos in eastern Peru said the survey party had lost two killed and four wounded since it was attacked by the Indians Wednesday.

The Indians were armed with bows, arrows and rifles. The survey party consisted of 30 civilians and 10 soldiers when it set out.

An air force spokesman said the helicopter crew would try to transfer the survey party's wounded from the hill-top to a Peruvian navy gunboat on the Yacarana River.

IRVING, Tex. (UPI)—Five citizens of Irving, a Dallas suburb, heard Melvin Belli say he wanted to go to a "small town in Russia where there is some justice" and want to help him out.

GORDON AGAIN

Federal Budget Tonight

OTTAWA (UPI)—Finance Minister Walter Gordon, who almost brought down the Liberal government last June with his first budget, prepared today to deliver a second designed to restore the country's confidence in him and the administration.

Gordon was to enter the Commons about 8 p.m. 15 p.m. PST before crowded government and opposition benches and a jammed public gallery to tell his plans to raise revenue to meet the coming fiscal year's expected record federal spending program.

He is expected to reach the section on taxes and tariffs in about half an hour.

The program, coupled with this year's fiscal year's $683 million deficit, left him little opportunity to win friends. Most observers said he could not bring in any major tax cuts while attempting to reduce the deficit.

But Gordon was expected to stay away from any radical revenue-raising tax measures or moves against foreign investors, that brought the business community and opposition parties down on his neck last year.

Although major tax cuts were ruled out by most financial experts, there was speculation that the finance minister would offer altered, or new, incentives to depressed areas and change the proposed 20 per cent withholding tax on foreign-owned Canadian subsidiaries lacking 25 per cent Canadian ownership and control.

Full details of the budget will be carried in all editions of Tuesday's Times.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Warm sunshine filled Beacon Hill Park Sunday to the delight of the ducks, seagulls and the occupants of the animal pen, who ate proffered tidbits until they were bulging.

Two saddest sights revealed by the sunlight were the fawns, losing their fur in patches before growing more adult summer coats—and the World's Tallest Totem Pole which begins to need a new paint job.

An Englishwoman has written to The Times in search of a family she knew in England who originally came from Victoria.

Mrs. Margaret Kimmins (formerly Miss Margaret Dyer) would like to hear from Mrs. Ted Plaxton or her sister, Norah, believed to be living in British Columbia.

"We knew them in England during the war," writes Mrs. Kimmins from her home at 3 Urchinwood, Writington Road, Congresbury, near Bristol, Somerset.

British-born Harry Haigh is giving up his "junk yard" on Rockland Avenue to raise chickens, rabbits, vegetables on six acres of land "way out" on the West Saanich Road.

"I shall move there within the next two months," Mr. Haigh told us. "It's a good way outside the city."

Mr. Haigh said he had sold his 20-room mansion and 2½-acre property on Rockland Avenue for close to the price he asked—$45,000.

The city claimed that the property—a stone's throw from Government House—was "a vast heap of junk." It repeatedly sought to have him clean up a pile of old sinks, broken TV antennas, bottles, tins, bolts and even chunks of rusting railway track.

Mr. Haigh has appeared in court numerous times on charges of operating a junk yard on his property.

"It's not really a junk yard," he says. "I am a collector of bric-a-brac."

We were thirsty when we arrived early to see Cleopatra's other night. So we treated the missus to an orange drink in a paper cup—total bill 20 cents.

We were thirstier at intermission and went back for more. And what did we find? No more 10-cent drinks. Just 20 cent, large-size paper cups. Total bill—40 cents.

The theatre could have run out of small-size cups, of course. But the concessionaire didn't offer to fill the large-size cup half way. Just said "no small size."

This appears to be profiteering on a captive clientele. I'm on this theatre.

"I hadn't spent a night in the Empress Hotel since the war," writes Georgina Murray Kedell in the Alaska Highway News, Fort St. John.

"It doesn't matter which war, either, because the Empress hasn't changed since it was built. However, the blackout curtains are down, even if the interior is a trifle dimly lit!"

"I am sure that under the shades, the light bulbs all have little sharp spikes at the end and burn yellow instead of white."

"They were screwed in 50 years ago—before built-in obsolescence—and they never wear out. At the same time, they rimmed the Parliament Buildings with the same lights and these also burn a yellow light, giving those august tourists a gold edging fit for a government that assures all and sundry it is the most prosperous this province has ever seen."

Young stamp collectors are invited to write to H. Hinde, 5 Narbonne Avenue, Clapham Common, London, S.W. 4, England.

"I shall be glad to send them a few English stamps free of charge," writes Mr. Hinde.

BURN SOME HOUSES

A Cypriot government spokesman said Turkish-Cypriots set fire Sunday to some unoccupied Greek-Cypriot houses in Ayios Theodoros, a village near Larnaca in southern Cyprus. It was the only reported incident of the day.

Cypriot Vice-President, Fazil Kutchuk, leader of the island's Turkish community, flew by helicopter Sunday to Ktima in southwestern Cyprus, the scene of heavy fighting between Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots a week ago.

Kutchuk, returning to Nicosia, said the Greek- Cypriots in Ktima still had not returned 24 Turkish-Cypriot hostages.

He said the Turkish Red Crescent (Kil Gross) was allowed into Ktima for the first time Sunday with relief supplies.

PREPARES FOR TROOPS

Col. Edward Amy, 45, of Kemptville, N.S., commander of the Canadian contingent of the UN peace force, spent Sunday in a round of conferences setting up arrangements for the arrival of the Canadian troops.

Amy met with Brazilian Maj. Gen. Carlos Chaves, acting commander of the UN force in Cyprus, and with the British Commander of the joint truce force in Cyprus, Maj. Gen. Richard Carver.

With the threat of Turkish invasion eased, Nicosia took on somewhat of a holiday atmosphere during the weekend. Revellers poured out of Nicosia's cafes early Sunday and sang loudly in the central square only a short distance from the city's "green line," where armed Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots confront each other.

It was the first such outburst since the two communities started fighting in December over plans of the Greek-Cypriot government to change the constitution to end the Turkish-Cypriot veto over key legislation.

veteran and provide continuous treatment for service-incurred disability.

But more and more, he said, the facilities have come to be used by veterans without service-connected ailments and particularly by indigent veterans.

As a result, patient loads have strained resources and reduced the ability of the hospitals to treat the war-disabled adequately. The minister said the veterans' hospitals are now used mainly for accommodation of older veterans with long-term chronic ailments generally unrelated to their service.

This has made the hospitals less attractive to high calibre nursing and medical personnel. Mr. Teillet said that if it was not for the sense of dedication of the first-class group of men and women now staffing the veterans' hospitals, services would have started to disintegrate.

He said the best way to avoid this was to incorporate the treatment of veterans into the general hospital treatment program.

TAKE OVER

In Victoria, Norman Beatty, administrator at Veterans' Hospital said he expected the eventual result of the proposed program would be that the adjacent Royal Jubilee Hospital would be asked to take over the DVA hospital, which would then proceed with its work as it has done in the past.

Under the new plan it is intended that aging veterans requiring chronic care would receive that care in their own communities and this would ultimately mean fewer out-of-town veterans would come to Victoria or Vancouver.

But this might be a snag which would delay the whole program because few B.C. communities have chronic hospital facilities, said Mr. Beatty.

S. J. Mayzes, zone commander for the Royal Canadian Legion, said he thought Legion opposition to the plan would continue. In any event, he saw the changeover as a gradual process.

"We'll have to examine the terms of the takeover and be assured that veterans' privileges, particularly the treatment of pensionable conditions, the treatment of war veterans allowances recipients and of those in domiciliary care, is in no way reduced," he added.

Rights Bill Clears Alta. Indian

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—A court decision involving an Indian and the bill of rights has received praise from Indian lawyer William Wuttunee of Calgary.

He was commenting on a Feb. 6 ruling by Magistrate W. A. MacLeod of Pincher Creek which dismissed a charge against an Indian of being in possession of intoxicant off the reserve.

Charles Crow Eagle, 75-year-old councillor of the Peigan band in southern Alberta, was arrested Feb. 1 by RCMP who said they found two bottles of vanilla extract in his possession. He was charged under Indian Act.

D. H. Christie of the federal justice department in Ottawa said in a telephone interview Magistrate MacLeod ruled that because vanilla extract can be purchased by a white man and an Indian is equal with the white man under the Bill of Rights the charge would be thrown out.

Mr. Wuttunee commented: "If magistrates would look at the Bill of Rights and the universal declaration of human rights, it would do away with restrictive legislation as it affects Indians and others."

Evidence of Witness Sent Banks to Trial

MONTREAL (CP)—Evidence given by a witness from his hospital bed was considered sufficient to send Hal C. Banks to trial on a charge of conspiracy to assault a rival union leader more than four years ago.

Sessions Judge Emile Trotter last week sent the busy president of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.) to trial at the Court of Queen's Bench session starting in May. He said the testimony of former SIU officer John J. Woods gave a special sitting of preliminary hearing in hospital here Feb. 11 established a possible motive for the beating. Victim of the beating was Richard Greaves of the National Association of Marine Engineers, C.E., who was attacked in his union's Vancouver office Jan. 30, 1960.

Woods testified he overheard Banks tell another SIU official Greaves "had taken half of the West Coast away from me" in the inter-union dispute prior to Greaves' beating.

Judge Trotter said a possible conspiracy was established by Woods' testimony he heard Banks tell Norman Cunningham a former Vancouver SIU official that he wasn't working fast enough to "dump" Greaves. Woods testified in hospital where he was to undergo surgery.

Quebec Fanatics Seek Army 'Spies'

MONTREAL (CP)—The head of Montreal's anti-terrorist squad says he understands the terrorist group Armee de Liberation Quebecois (Quebec Liberation Army) has sent out a questionnaire to persons it hopes will join the Canadian army for infiltration purposes.

Inspector Russel Senecal said today it is "no secret" that infiltration is part of the terrorist program of the ALQ "and other fanatical groups like them."

The Montreal Star says the ALQ, held responsible for big armory raids in Quebec province in the last six weeks, is distributing a three-page questionnaire to known and prospective followers asking if they are willing to enlist in the army "to serve the cause."

The questionnaire also asks for information on the applicant's army service, present occupation, willingness to learn special trades, political sympathies, age, racial origin and marital status.

The story didn't say how the literature was being distributed. It said a copy of the questionnaire had been acquired by the RCMP.

The Star says the questionnaire is "almost word for word" with one used to recruit members for Algeria's revolutionary army. The ALQ came into prominence last January when arms and ammunition were stolen from a Montreal armory.

It took credit for the theft.

Extra Protection Sought For Ruby in Dallas Jail

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby remained alone in a jail cell today while his lawyers prepared to appeal the verdict of a Dallas jury which sentenced him to death for murder.

"Maximum security" surrounds Ruby, Sheriff Bill Decker said.

But Ruby's counsel, Melvin Belli, said he is worried about a possible attempt on Ruby's life and has asked for extra protection for him.

"Later on, when he has adjusted to the jolt of the verdict, he probably will be put in a large cell with other prisoners," Decker said. "He's had maximum security from the beginning and he will continue to have it in jail."

Dallas authorities refused to "signify by comment" a statement Belli has made several times since Ruby was convicted Saturday morning of killing Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy. The lawyer said:

"Ruby is worried, and so am I, that they may slip someone into his cell—another prisoner—with a shiv (knife) in order to prevent our appeal. Then they would make it appear as a suicide and this vicious city would have him off their hands."

GUARDS WATCH RUBY

Throughout the 23-day trial, three guards sat near Ruby in court—so near, in fact, that Belli once protested they were listening to his conversations with Ruby. They were seated in such a way as to be able to watch the spectators.

Saturday, before the verdict was handed down, Decker put three more in the front row of seats.

Belli continued to rage against the "Dallas oligarchy" and insisted that Ruby was "railroaded."

Ten days ago Belli told a reporter: "The Dallas oligarchy has ordered Ruby's execution. You'll see."

In Texas, the jury fixes the penalty. For murder, punishment ranges from two years imprisonment, suspended, to death in the electric chair.

Ruby's lawyers can take the first step toward an appeal by asking Judge Joe B. Brown for a new trial. They have 30 days to file.

Since a "trial judge seldom reverses himself, the next step would be the Texas Criminal Court of Appeals within 90 days.

FILES 129 EXCEPTIONS

A "full bill of exceptions" to Brown's rulings during the trial is being prepared, Belli said. The defence filed 129 exceptions to the language in Brown's charge to the jury.

In an interview with radio station KOBX Sunday, Belli said, "it will be six months before we get through the court of appeals. It will be good to sit in a quiet chamber and talk some law again. It will be the first time a law book was looked at in Ruby's trial."

Ruby's spiritual adviser, Rabbi Hillel Silverman, said: "I'm shocked that a jury could reach a decision in such speedy fashion. I had hoped that even if the jury did not find him insane, at the very least they would have come to the conclusion that this was not premeditated murder, and that consequently the verdict would have been something less than the death penalty."

U.S. Plans 'Job Corps' To Help Poor, Unfit Youth

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson presented to Congress today his plans for the war on poverty, concentrating his $962,500,000 attack on helping needy young Americans.

The program to help youngsters in the 16 to 21 age bracket centres on a job corps reminiscent of the Civilian Conservation Corps of the 1930s.

"The years of high school and college are the most critical stage of a young person's life," Johnson said, in a special message on poverty. "If they are not helped then, many will be condemned to a life of poverty which they, in turn, will pass on to their children."

The job corps would enlist up to 100,000 young men, draft rejects and school dropouts, from "those whose background, health and education makes them least fit for useful work."

These young men would be removed from their slum backgrounds and placed in camps to work on conservation projects and in special job training centres for a blend of training, basic education and work experience.

NOT JUST CAMPS — "These are not simply camps for the underprivileged," Johnson said. "They are new educational institutions, comparable in innovation to the land grant colleges. Those who enter them will emerge better qualified to play a productive role in American society."

Other phases of the youth program are work-training and work-study projects, federal grants to provide full or part-time jobs to help youngsters stay in high school, take vocational training of work their way through college.

Cor-ordinating the war on poverty will be a new executive agency, the office of economic opportunities, which Johnson said would be headed by Sargent Shriver, "my personal chief of staff for the war against poverty."

In addition to the job corps, Shriver also will supervise creation of another new group, the Volunteers for America, a Peace Corps styled body of 3,000 to 5,000 volunteers who will work in various phases of the war on poverty.

Both the job corps and the Volunteers for America are taken from legislation now pending in Congress — the YOUTH CONSERVATION CORPS AND THE NATIONAL SERVICE CORPS respectively.

Quake Causes Panic

CP from AP-Reuters

LISBON — An earthquake shook Portugal Sunday night, toppling houses, knocking out power lines and causing panic in a movie house.

The quake was most intense in the southern town of Fuzeta where two houses collapsed.

Fifty persons were mauled fighting their way out of a movie house in Sao Bras de Alportel.

The quake also was felt in Madrid, the Spanish capital, where alarmed citizens deluged police and newspaper switchboards with calls.

In Casablanca, thousands of persons rushed from homes, movies and bars into the streets here during the night as an tremor rocked almost the whole of Morocco.

Motorists took their families into the surrounding countryside or to beaches to spend the night. Panic was due largely to memories of the disastrous earthquake that destroyed the city of Agadir with the loss of 12,000 lives four years ago.

Despite the appeals from the police large numbers of people spent the night outside.

It is estimated that more than 100,000 women knit and sew for the Canadian Red Cross members of the Women's Work Committee.

Telephone Tapped MONTREAL (UPI) — Telephone lines of the board of trustees governing warring Great Lakes maritime unions were tapped "for a brief period," it was learned Saturday. A spokesman for the board said rigid security precautions have been taken to prevent mote wire tapping, and RCMP are investigating.

Bribe Offered Robbery Juror

AYLESBURY, England (Reuters) — The trial of 11 persons charged in Britain's nearly $8,000,000 great train robbery was adjourned briefly today when a juror said he had been offered a bribe to swing the jury's verdict.

Defence lawyers were continuing their closing speeches when the case resumed today. The judge was expected to start his summing-up Tuesday.

Another Step Forward

ARRANGEMENTS FOR SALE of the University's Lansdowne Road property, if borne out, will mean a great step forward for the institution. While there was much to be said for the site as a campus, it was inevitable that the operations would have to be moved to the much larger Gordon Head site. With that decision long since made, anything that can speed up the transition is to be commended. A split campus imposes difficulties which the young institution can well do without.

Steady progress in construction at Gordon Head augurs well for the development program. Once the library is opened at the new site the classroom accommodation must follow as speedily as possible. Early sale of the Lansdowne buildings will facilitate this and enable the development plans to be accelerated. But in addition to the complete removal of student activities to Gordon Head, the Lansdowne arrangements have another important aspect. It is greatly to be hoped that Oak Bay municipality will find acceptable the allocation of some of the Lansdowne campus to residential zoning, thus providing new taxable lots, and that it will therefore release the 40 acres of Gordon Head campus now being held for high-rise apartment development.

These 40 acres comprise a 400-foot strip along the Gordon Head Road and Cedar Hill Cross Road perimeter of the campus and would impose a serious restriction on the University's use of its land for the next 75 years. The plans for Lansdowne offer a reasonable alternative to Oak Bay, concerned for its tax revenues, and now is the time for this municipality to view the whole project in the light of obvious benefit to the community as a whole.

One other point is of importance. The beautiful grounds of the Young Building, once known as the Normal School, have become through the years an asset in which the whole community has a proprietary interest. Any purchase agreement should contain a guarantee that the amenities will be preserved in their full beauty. We cannot afford to lose so fine an example of landscaping in a community which prides itself on its gardens.

Time for Integrity

IN THE ABSENCE OF ANY clear explanation of policy from the federal government, the indications are that there is being prepared a shameless sell-out of the Eskimos inhabiting the northern areas of Quebec province.

The interests of the Eskimos are by law, by tradition and by the natives' own preference the responsibility of the federal government. For reasons of prestige arising from the current racial and provincial rights upsurge in Quebec, the provincial government is anxious to obtain jurisdiction over the Ungava Eskimo communities within its boundaries. But the Eskimos — largely English-speaking and Protestant so far as their cultural contacts with Canada are concerned — have clearly stated their desire to remain under federal government jurisdiction and retain their present religious, educational and language affiliations.

The Quebec government is pressing strongly to get its own way regardless of the natives' wishes and continues to negotiate with Ottawa to effect a transfer of control. To its shame, the federal department of northern affairs under Mr. Laing is also pushing ahead with studies and talks apparently preparatory to a transfer, despite the BNA Act and despite obvious injustice.

Mr. Levesque, Quebec's minister of natural resources, holds that the Eskimos are not competent to decide their own fate, and that any referendum among them would be an "abuse of democratic processes."

This is not good enough. The natural tendency of federal ministers at this time may be to "appease" Quebec wishes, to do nothing that will perhaps stir up still further protests and resentment among the French-Canadian population. And this would be particularly easy to do if the view is taken that all that is at stake is the future of a few hundred Eskimos.

This decision should not be made in any such atmosphere or with any such thought in mind. If the Eskimos demand a change in the arrangements, then their wishes should be carried out through a change in the BNA Act. But if they insist—as they do—that they wish the present federal supervision to continue, then their wishes should be respected and there should be no attempt to bulldoze them into agreeing to something they do not want—and which the Canadian constitution does not permit.

Let the Buyer Beware

THE UNITED STATES, FIND- ing that its ideological arguments against trading with Cuba have raised little response among Western nations, has turned to economic arguments.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, testifying before the Senate foreign relations committee, issued what amounted to a warning to America's Western allies that Cuba is not a good credit risk and is not likely to be a good customer for their goods in future.

Mr. Rusk pointed out that the Soviet Union is estimated to have poured about $1 billion into Cuba to bolster the regime of Premier Castro. He added that while Cuba had earned a lot of dollars through high sugar prices last year, there could be no certainty that this would long continue.

Mr. Rusk's warning seems to be quite redundant. America's Western allies are by no means so naive about trading with Cuba, or any other Communist countries, as he seems to believe.

While exports to Communist countries are not quite on a "cash and carry" basis, there is little chance that any Western trading nation is going to extend generous, long-term credit either. A certain amount of risk, commensurate with the circumstances, must be assumed by any trading nation but there is no evidence that in deals with Cuba, or Russia, or China or other Communist bloc countries, Western nations have not been astute enough to foresee the risks.

What the Americans have not been able to see, unfortunately, is that if the trading nations of the West had refused to do business with the Communists they would have injured their own economies as much, if not more, than they have strengthened the Communists by trading with them.

Political Inveective: Not Dirty Politics But a Fine British Tradition

PRIME MINISTER Sir Alec Douglas-Home is a "little, incompetent, squalid creature," the House of Commons was informed last week. "He is not fit to black the boots of the dirtiest private."

The House also heard that Sir John Eden, Conservative MP for Bourne-mouth West, once "engaged in a sordid intrigue to get a better man out of Bourne-mouth East to satisfy a primitive impulse" that a number of Conservative MPs are "retarded adolescents" that Secretary of State for Air Hugh Fraser is "a cheap-skate, a phoney," and again of the prime minister that he is a "rather waspish creature, flicking his tongue in and out like a viper."

Author of the above assessments was Mr. George Wigg, Labor MP and a man of strong feelings, who noted in closing: "If I am offensive, by God, I am trying to be." Readers will be glad to know that Sir Alec is not, after all, a "little, incompetent, squalid, creature," for Mr. Wigg was forced to withdraw this observation.

Purser

A Conservative MP, Mr. Anthony Kershaw, at one point rose to protest Mr. Wigg's "cheap buffoonery" and the "childish laughter" from the Labor benches. Mr. Emanuel Shinwell, Labor, joined in with a declaration that Mr. Kershaw was not an honorable member of the House, but only a member. Since by firm tradition all members are honorable members, the chairman said his ears must have deceived him. Mr. Shinwell made it clear the chairman's hearing had been excellent.

Now firmly invited to express himself differently, Mr. Shinwell tried "so-called honorable," "stupid," and "dishonorable" before finally withdrawing all imputations and leaving the chamber in a snit.

Seekers of entertainment outside the House could have dropped down to Eastbourne to hear Mrs. Barbara Castle, the ultra-leftist MP, tell the National Conference of Labor Women that Tories were "incapable liars, political phony peace-makers," and traitors to various worthy causes such as peace.

Parkinson could compose a law stating that name-calling increases as elections approach. Not that political invective is dirty politics; it is a fine British tradition. The only pity is that today's name-calls lack finesse. Great name-calling ended when Aneurin Bevan and Sir Winston Churchill ceased to be heard. Sir Winston's description of Clement Attlee as a "sheep in sheep's clothing" is a classic, and Mr. Wigg will never invest the word "viper" with the feeling behind Mr. Bevan's snorted "Tory vermin."

When Sir Alec called Mr. Wilson a "slick salesman of synthetic ideas," the only reaction was a universal assumption that Sir Alec's ghostwriter had showed through in this alliterative departure from the prime minister's homespun style.

Tories, being gentlemen, seldom stoop to the repetitive insults of a Mr. Wigg or the coarseness of a Mr. Reginald Paget, who during the Probus debate drew rude attention to the then Lord Hailsham's alleged self-indulgence and the maldistribution of his weight resulting therefrom. The Tories have an image to uphold. "Image," like "beetles," is one of the most over-

Sick, Sick, Sick

There is no glamor or fun in it. It is wrong, I think, to treat these matters in a light-hearted way as it was when "Zeke" was given a nice notice for spraying paint along Quadra Street. Far better, I think, was the treatment in the editorial of the Times, March 7, where vandals were properly described as moronic and sick.

It is obviously impossible unless the police force is doubled to catch these creatures. It might be worth a try.

To Make It a Gift of Freedom to the Whole Nation

THE Senate has begun its debate on civil rights amid conditions that promise a diligent discussion leading finally to a fair verdict. No such prospect was possible nine months ago. Last summer, when the Negroes took their cause to the streets, there seemed nothing better in view than reform by intimidation. Now there is at least the chance that we may achieve reform based on a measure of consent.

Freedman

This change is due only in part to the passage of time and the erosion of prejudice by prolonged discussion. It is due even more to a discovery which has forbidden the racial problem to be considered in a Southern context alone.

The racial unrest in a succession of Northern cities has chastened Northern pride, but it has also ended its vanity of moral superiority.

No longer is it possible for any citizen of the North, with a sensitive conscience and a respect for the facts, to bristle with indignation at the mention of Mississippi and Georgia while ignoring the organized injustices in his own community. Before he can discharge his conscience by indulging in a moral indictment of the South, he must ask himself what chance a Negro worker in his own city has to receive fair training and advancement in a trade union; what chance a Negro child has to attend a really distinguished school; what chance a Negro businessman has to own a home in a cultivated neighborhood. He will be living in a lucky Northern city indeed if he can answer all these questions in terms that are not offensive to the axioms of American equality.

Seen in this context, the civil rights bill becomes less a bludgeon aimed at the South than a covenant of common citizenship.

In the Senate itself there has been a wise reluctance to excite sectional passion by talking about filibusters against freedom. The Northern Senators have shown more restraint on this subject than has been true of Northern editors. It will be time enough to denounce the Southern spokesmen when they have actually abused and degraded the classic procedures of debate.

To submit them to a process of guilt by anticipation is worse than unjust. It invites the very conditions of inflamed controversy which it should be the duty of every man of good will to avoid or mitigate.

Among the most trusted members of the Senate, both from the North and the South, there is a prevailing conviction that a strong civil rights bill will pass. It will be very similar to the one already endorsed by the House of Representatives. The judgment is shared by most veteran observers of Congress.

It is an idle fantasy to think that Senator Dirksen as the Republican leader has the power to block the passage of the public accommodations section, or that he will wish to assume this invidious burden. He will speak his mind and vote his conscience, and then allow the matter to be settled by the majority.

Issues of Conscience

Nor can the Southern minority, no matter how zealous in conviction or accomplished in its mastery of the arts of obstruction, nullify this power of a determined majority. For this bill raises issues of conscience which cannot be eliminated by a process of fatigue or by careful amendments designed to blur the edges of conviction.

The only real question now is whether the debate will contribute to the reconciliation of the nation or whether it will create new grievances. Even a perfect civil rights bill, which this one is not, can never solve all our racial problems. But an enlightened and responsible debate can pluck away bitter dogmas, or at least reduce ancient antagonisms, and so give the American people the opportunity to be true to their more generous nature. A shameful responsibility will rest on those in the Senate who try to thwart this hope.

Senator Humphrey, who is in charge of the bill, has appreciated the moral challenge implicated in this debate by avoiding all premature criticism of Southern Senators and by inviting the Republicans to join the Democrats in passing this legislation. That is the right appeal for the bill belongs to the mandates of the American conscience, not to the strategies of politics. Until now the bill rested with the initiative of President Kennedy and President Johnson.

Now the Senate must grasp hands with the House in making it a gift of freedom to the whole nation. Then the American people in difficult years of flawed government can turn to the progress and pursue the laborious task — the true miracle of democracy — of turning a pledge on parchment into the breath of freedom.

A Pause in the Trend Toward European Political Union

FRANCE'S five Common Market partners are now firmly lined up against a revival of negotiations on European political union along Gaullist lines. Officials in Brussels are convinced that no progress can be made in this direction until the European policy of the next British government takes shape after the pending election.

The Dutch and Italians, in particular, are against any moves that might make it more difficult to bring the British in. Chancellor Erhard's visit to the Hague seemed to have convinced him that the Common Market summit conference he had suggested would get nowhere on political union. The Belgians, who seemed ready a few months ago to take another look at political union possibilities, have also changed their minds.

The need to wait for Britain is not the only argument. It is felt that the French attitude to defence, NATO and the United States is so different from that of the other five that union limited largely to regular confrontations would have little real meaning, but might give the impression that General de Gaulle could speak for Europe.

The five, however, do not want Europe to stand still. They are aiming at closer economic integration, tying France more securely into the community, while depriving the general of a political sounding board.

Despite the deadlock on political union, the Six have already decided to fuse the three communities (Common Market, Euratom and the Coal and Steel pool) by January 1, 1967. As a first step, the three executives will be replaced by a single commission by July next year. The main obstacle is Luxem-bourg's reluctance to lose the coal and steel pool headquarters which it values for prestige and economic reasons.

The five would like this consolidation of the communities accompanied by increased powers for the European parliament, but the French opposition to this looks unshakable.

The main events of the year, therefore, are likely to be the Kennedy round of tariff-cutting negotiations due to open in May in Geneva, and the Common Market's decision on the harmonization of its cereal prices.

The two are closely linked. The French argue that it will be impossible to negotiate with the United States on agriculture unless the Common Market prices are agreed on.

Since the Six will be negotiating as a single unit in the Kennedy round, the French position will carry considerable weight. And a further warning that France will not be in a generous mood at Geneva came last week from Mr. Bokorowski, minister for industry, who said that the Common Market should be consolidated before it began making tariff concessions to outsiders. He distributed his speech to the foreign press in Paris with the key passages underlined in red.

The Kennedy round may lead to some stormy meetings between the Six, but it will also increase the pressure on them to begin aligning their trade policies. The problems involved in trading with the Communist countries and Japan are already pushing them in the same direction.

There is similar pressure for greater co-ordination of economic, financial and monetary policies. West Germany, in particular, is afraid that inflation in France and Italy may prove contagious. The Six must work out methods of acting together in dealing with problems of this kind.

"Europeans" see in this an indication that the inner dynamism of the Common Market is working again. They believe the economic ties binding France to the others can be tightened, in spite of the Gaullist foreign policy based on national independence.

New York — Many thousands of men are idle and the threat to the industrial world is as serious as it was one year ago.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"Boy! I bet that's the loudest I ever yelled!"

(but "I wouldn't like to live abroad"; the businessman ordering a new bowler ("very very racist"); and an unintentionally hilarious justification of fox-hunting "enjoyed by everyone who lives in the countryside" by a noble lord.

It was all the more devastating because the explanations of the upper-class system were given in their own words by real members of the class, apparently little suspecting they were acting parts in a realistic comedy revue.

Image-defending can go beyond mere group criticism posters. One overseas journalist, writing in an Eastern Canadian newspaper, produced a series of articles entitled "What's Wrong with Britain?" — a fair question Britons themselves ask. He was rewarded for his efforts by having his articles photostated by a Conservative party agency and circulated to influential people with Canadian links who, according to a covering letter, must read that same personal satire would be appropriate. Subtle!

As for the articles complained of — they consisted of a string of facts mostly taken straight from a host of official reports on the state of Britain, printed by the Ministry's Stationery Office and ordered by the Conservative government.

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

SOMEONE once defined radio as "a device which permits speakers to state without fear of contradiction."

Recently I was present when a brusque politician, Rene Levesque, would not speak to a meeting if his words were to be broadcast. His main reason, as I understood it, suggests that the ironical definition given above is out of date. Radio and its use of the taped voice is a menace to politicians.

Ukase Against Radio

Mr. Levesque told me that he never knows how his remarks are going to be presented on the airwaves. By skilful editing and selection, by the use of introductory phrases and interpretive comment that follows on, a slick man with a tape can alter or change the context, even the original meaning. Such fancy work can be more destructive than an incomplete statement or a misquotation in a newspaper. The impact is more immediate; its immediacy lasts, after repetition, for months; the explanation can never catch up.

Several stations in Montreal which broadcast in English seem to feel Mr. Levesque is the main threat to the right and proper future of Quebec, especially of the English minority. He believes they have used, with deliberate intent, taped remarks of his in such a way that he appears dangerous, unreasonable, and vindictive to the English-speaking community.

Mr. Levesque is fed up with the way his phrases are picked up and distorted. As an ex-radio, ex-TV man, he is reverent towards the trade. All this explains his "ukase against radio and the 19 or so imitations which spiked the platform for our so-called debate. The nasty snarl this brought from the radio people led into his statement that he is never again going to speak in English on the relations between French and English in Canada.

Share Distaste

I share from experience his distaste for the artful malice of radio-journalists, but it is most regrettable Rene Levesque cannot devote his time to a campaign amongst English-speaking Canadians on what he and his followers wish in response and action from the rest of the country. There's much wishful thinking among federal Liberals that Levesque is in decline or eclipse. I could not draw such a conclusion from the reaction of the largely English-speaking audience in the squarish, packed hall of Notre Dame de Grace. What better tribute to the Levesque charm could there be than the rippling laughter and bursts of applause which he drew when giving opinions which varied so from those of most of his listeners? His magnetism to an audience is as evident as John Diefenbaker's. One wonders how and why.

Mr. Levesque is as short as Tommy Douglas, although he appears weightier because his suits are looser and less spruce or jaunty. He is not quite bald. His skull is fashioned in shallow planes which shape to a cerebral dome. Like Yul Brynner, the nakedness has force and virility, not an effect of age or peacefulness. His movements are fidgety, cigarette-crushing type. The quick flicker of facial expressions heightens the sense of energy straining at some leash. His nose is plastic and knobby and bent. The nose and light, wide-set eyes dominate a small, unsymmetrical face and a thin, long, mobile lower lip. His voice is clear of the old throatiness and quite expressive in range and emotion at a conversational level. It is not powerful. It has too many nuances and his remarks have so many side-ways and skirting moves in thought and plot that he does not dominate or fire an audience as might Real Caouette or Jean Lesage. Ideally, his metier would be the small assembly of peers and friends or, better still, direct candor with the television viewer.

The Moving Spirit

Several years ago I was at a banquet table in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel. Our group came from west of Quebec. Mr. Levesque spoke to us. In a few lines he had us in a laughing uproar. A lady next to me whispered in a huff: "Why are we laughing; he's insulting us!" He was and we took it and liked it and applauded.

That was the week of the Resources for Tomorrow Conference, prepared for years as a take-off towards modern resource management in Canada. There were swaths of papers and swarms of discussion on forests, water, soils, recreation, and planning. Implicit in the whole affair was a lead by the federal government; the hope was a coordinated response from the provinces. Mr. Levesque's banquet address disabused us of this hope, much as he did the other night when he rejected completely my idea that I was simply a Canadian, untrypheated. Despite the laughter his remarks had seemed a grim curtain to the resources conference. Yet there is today, in 1964, a functioning secretariat in Montreal called the Council of Resources Ministers. It is the most advanced institution we have yet for inter-provincial co-operation with Ottawa. Where did the moving spirit for it come from? Not from Toronto, not from Victoria, not from Regina but from Quebec City and Rene Levesque.

TORY SAYS YES

Soreads Seeking To Join Grits?

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)

Alvin Hamilton, former federal minister of agriculture, said Saturday the four western Social Credit members of Parliament including party leader Robert Thompson have discussed joining the Liberals.

Mr. Hamilton said in an interview here he understands Bert Leboe discussed the move with his Cariboo constituency members at Quesnel.

He said he had the report from a person present at a meeting in January or early February.

One of the conditions of the shift would be that Mr. Thompson become a member of Prime Minister Pearson's cabinet, Mr. Hamilton said.

The other two Social Credit members are Horace Olson of Medicine Hat and Alex Patterson of Fraser Valley.

Mr. Hamilton forecast that a New Democratic Party government would be re-elected if a provincial election is held in Saskatchewan this year, because the Liberals had "botched the medicare issue badly."

He was visiting Conservative party members here after a week-long tour of B.C. that he said, came close to exhausting him. He flew from here Sunday morning to Vancouver and boarded another flight to Hong Kong.

TO HONG KONG

He will spend three weeks in Communist China, where he hopes to discuss plans to help the Chinese sell goods on the world market and earn money to buy Canadian wheat and pork.

He has said that he is going as a private citizen, "doing what every good machine salesman on the prairies does—trying to get my customer the money to buy my product."

At Ottawa, Mr. Leboe denied there had been any such bargaining involving himself or any of the other members mentioned by Mr. Hamilton.

He said it was true that the Social Credit party had always held the view that it might no longer need to exist if either of the old-line parties adopted Social Credit principles.

In this matter, however, there was no preference between the Liberals and Conservatives and there would be no bargaining for cabinet posts in the manner suggested by the former agriculture minister.

He added: "This means, among other things, the fullest possible democratization of the party in the sense that authority and policy must flow upward from the rank and file to those who fill positions of responsibility and power in the party."

"In its turn, this requires periodic national conventions—perhaps every two years—so that the involvement of the individual can be mobilized for the determination and pursuit of national purpose through his party."

Mike Urges 'New Politics'

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Saturday night the Liberal party should have regular national conventions—perhaps every two years—so that individual supporters can have a greater voice in party policy.

Mr. Pearson, addressing the "prime minister's dinner" of the Toronto and District Liberal Association, said that what he has been describing as the "new politics" is based on the personal involvement of all citizens. It called for that involvement to be expressed through party activity.

He added: "This means, among other things, the fullest possible democratization of the party in the sense that authority and policy must flow upward from the rank and file to those who fill positions of responsibility and power in the party."

"In its turn, this requires periodic national conventions—perhaps every two years—so that the involvement of the individual can be mobilized for the determination and pursuit of national purpose through his party."

He told the party gathering that the "new politics" would help overcome obstacles to a united Canada. It would "ensure that the passions of extremism or prejudice do not replace unselfish, careful and objective deliberation as the basis of political decision and action."

He said: "We must first apply this new politics to our most important problem—national unity."

"If," he said, "politics and politicians exploit these difficulties for personal or party purposes, in parliament or out of it, if they seek to get party advantage out of them, they are unworthy Canadians and false to their trust. Liberals must not, and will not, follow this course."

Boy Set Fires

SAUGUS, Mass. (AP)—Fires which caused damage estimated at some $2,200,000 to three public schools, a church and his home, were set by a 14-year-old Saugus schoolboy, police have reported. The series of fires was climaxed by flames which swept the Veterans Memorial School with a loss estimated at $75,000. Acting Police Chief Fred Forni said.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Plant According to Compass

Knowledge of the points of the compass in regards to one's garden may appear to be elemental information too trivial for the consideration of a grown-up gardener.

Yet such knowledge can mean the difference between success and failure in the laying out of a property.

While the large areas of dense shade created by three-storey homes are seldom a problem today, we still have a north, south, east and west side or variations thereof.

Plants, and these include shrubs and trees, which require a warm, sunny location, do not enjoy the north side of a building, but there are quite strong differences to consider between the east and west sides of a house before planting.

The morning sun on an east wall or exposure will be less burning in summer than that on either the south or west, and is therefore more favored for broad-leaved evergreens whose leaves are inclined to burn with reflected heat from the wall of the building.

However, early-flowering broad-leaved shrubs such as camellias and pieris, whose buds develop during winter, can have their first blooms badly scorched by morning sun while the opening buds are still frosted. It is rarely that the spring frosts in themselves do this damage if the buds can thaw before the sun strikes.

Plants from warmer climates than our own frequently do best if given the southern exposure where they get all the sun there is both summer and winter and the least of the winter winds.

Those needing fall sun for ripening of fruit, as the grape, or for the ripening of wood for the next year's flowers, often do far better with a western exposure than an eastern.

If a choice has to be made for siting spring and summer shrubs choose the west in preference to the east.

These few ideas may be an aid in the selecting and growing of some of the lovely plants you most desire this spring.

Jews Left Millions In Banks

BERN (AP)—More than $2,000,000 deposited by Jews who were later murdered by the Nazis is still being held by Swiss banks waiting for claimants, the Swiss justice department said last week.

Money, securities and valuables in 961 deposits were reported to total about 9,500,000 Swiss francs ($2,201,611).

A spokesman said advertisements will be placed in newspapers throughout the world in a final effort to trace the heirs.

Under new legislation the unclaimed deposits of Germany's gas chamber victims are to be paid into a Swiss fund for aiding Jewish refugees and poor in Europe.

Jewish organizations estimated the unclaimed deposits might be as much as 100,000,000 francs ($23,000,000).

Curbs Wanted On High-Rises

A motion that no more high-rise apartments be built on Dallas or Douglas streets was received with loud applause at a meeting of the capital region branch, Community Planning Association, Saturday afternoon.

DISMOUNT TO ENJOY THE PARK

Symbol May Be Weird But Fair Will Use It

MONTREAL (CP)—The board of directors of the world's fair has decided to retain the symbol Parliament rejected last December as a "monstrosity," "weird stickmen" and "sickening."

A statement said the lack of an effective emblem has adversely affected preparations for the 1967 event and "moreover it appears far from certain that any new emblem would receive unanimous approval" or be as good.

The emblem by Montreal industrial engineer Julien Hebert was adopted by the board last Aug. 12. He said the arrangement indicated the shape of the earth and the theme of the fair: "Man and his world."

The House of Commons gave the design a rough reception and instructed the board to come up with another offering before the end of this year.

But the House did not rule out simple reconsideration of the original design.

HE'S PRETTY POINTED ABOUT IT . . .

BUCKS' GOALIE CRACKS WHL SHUTOUT RECORD

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Dave Kelly, 20-year-old Portland Buckaroos' goalie playing his first season in professional hockey, has shattered the Western Hockey League record for shutout time.
Kelly turned in his third consecutive shutout Saturday night, 3-0 over Los Angeles. Sunday he held Vancouver Canucks scoreless until the dying minutes of the game.
A Vancouver goal at 11:28 of the third period by George Ford ended consecutive shutout time on the ice for Kelly at 235 minutes and 12 seconds.
The amassed scoreless minutes surpassed the old record of 183 minutes, 34 seconds set in the 1950-51 season by Jerry Cotnoir of the now defunct Victoria Cougars.

Era Comes to End For U.S. Birdmen As Japanese Win

By DOUG PEDEEN
Japanese players are wearing the American zone badminton crown today and a United States shuttle era appears ended.

Japan, which had grabbed a 3-1 lead Friday in the American zone final, completed its triumph Saturday night at the Racquet Club by taking four out of five matches to wrap up the best-of-nine Thomas Cup tie 7-2.

Victory means a happy trip home for the Japanese. They will be hosts for the inter-zone final and will play against winners of the European, Asian and Australian zones in Tokyo. The victor at Tokyo will move on to challenge world champion Indonesia for the Thomas Cup.

Japan's youthful and well-balanced squad didn't daily Saturday in grabbing the two decisions they needed to clinch the zone crown before a packed crowd of about 750 fans.

Slender Eichi Nagai took the opening singles with a 15-1, 18-15 verdict over southpaw Don Paup and Yoshio Komiya ended all suspense by whipping Masaru Arimura 15-5, 15-4.

POOLE NEAR PERFECT
That reduced remaining matches to exhibitions, but it didn't reduce the determination of the Americans. They played some of their finest badminton in the last three matches and with a few breaks could have won all three.

Left-hander Jim Poole got his second victory of the tie in the final singles duel. The 33-year-old Poole, a former baseball and basketball star who didn't try badminton until he was 23, again proved he is one of the world's best by outstriking and outmanoeuvring Takeshi Miyazawa 15-5, 15-3.

Paup and Mike Hartgrove were in the battle all the way before dropping a 15-7, 10-15, 15-9 decision to Yoshinori Itagaki and Komiya in a pulsating doubles struggle.

OLD-TIMERS DAZZLED 'EM
Then the veterans of the veteran U.S. team, Joe Alston and Wynn Rogers, packed the hall with drama as they went down to the wire before losing to Nagai and Eichi Sakai. Alston, a remarkable 38-year-old bundle of energy, and Rogers, the Archie Moore of the shuttle set, were edged 8-15, 15-12, 18-16 in a match that was exceeded in excitement only by Poole's opening-night triumph over Komiya.

Despite defeat, the great effort was in some ways a triumph for Rogers, who had played poorly in his first-night match. But he came back with some fine play Saturday and the Alston-Rogers duo was leading by five points at one time in the 27-minute third game against their young and favored Japanese rivals.

It was perhaps unfortunate that Rogers and Alston were unable to chalk up a victory for this was almost certainly the end of an amazing Thomas Cup string for Rogers.

A SPRY 44
Although advance reports gave his age as 41, Rogers is actually 44, far beyond the age most men are able to campaign in international shuttle wars. He won his first U.S. national title in 1947 and is the only player in the world to have competed in all six Thomas Cup series, which started in 1949 and are played every three years.

With the U.S. working to develop young players, few expect Rogers will be back when the Americans try to regain the zone title in 1967.

By any standards, Wynn has had a great career and it is possible even the Japanese, with the zone crown tucked safely away, would have been pleased if he had been able to cap it with a victory in Saturday's finale.

Watch for MacLeod In Times Open Golf

Ron MacLeod, 33-year-old professional who plans to tour golf's "gold trail" next fall, looms as one to beat in the Times Island Open championship this year.

MacLeod, Jasper Park Lodge pro who winters in his native Victoria, wrapped up the spring medal series Sunday with a fine, two-under-par 68 at Royal Colwood.

MacLeod finished the 54-hole series with a 207 aggregate, two under par. He started out Sunday's round with a fourstroke lead over Chemainus pro Norm Boden and a five-stroke advantage over button-mate Laurie Carroll.

Habs Have Upper Hand In Struggle for First

Canadian Press
Like any good scenario the climax is being prolonged.

Conceivable things may remain unresolved until next Sunday night, the wrapup of the National Hockey League schedule.

But based on developments through the weekend you would have to lean toward Montreal Canadiens and away from Chicago Black Hawks.

The Canadiens, riding the playoff touch of a couple of toekies in the third period, upended the Black Hawks 4-3 in a Saturday night showdown between the two title-bent rivals.

Then both clubs went out and blew their Sunday night games.

But that left the rookie-laden surprise - package Canadiens with something of an upper hand.

They have three games to play to Chicago's two. Heading home both clubs have 80 points. Boston's enigmatic Bruins delivered a 2-1 setback to the Canadiens Sunday night while Detroit Red Wings turned back the Black Hawks 5-3 with Floyd Smith and the resurgent Norm Ullman supplying the offensive power.

NFL Lifts Suspensions Of Hornung and Karras

Best Interests . . . Served By Ending Ban—Rozelle

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League today reinstated Paul Hornung and Alex Karras, professional football players suspended indefinitely last April 17 for gambling activities. The reinstatement goes into effect immediately.

Hornung, a member of Green Bay Packers and three-time scoring champion of the National Football League, and Karras, an outstanding defensive tackle with Detroit Lions, were suspended for betting on football games.

At the same time five other Detroit players were fined the maximum of $2,000 each for betting on one game and the Detroit club was fined a total of $4,000 for laxness reporting information to the NFL commissioner and in supervising its bench at games.

Betting on games is forbidden by a provision in NFL player contracts. Pete Rozelle, NFL commissioner, said there was no evidence that any of the players had bet against his own team or that they ever had attempted to influence the results of games.

ADMITTED BETTING
Both Hornung and Karras admitted they had made substantial bets of $50 or more over a period of several seasons. The other five—Joe Schmidt, Wayne Walker, John Gordy, Gary Lowe and Sam Williams—bet $50 each and Karras $100 on Green Bay Packers to beat New York Giants in the 1962 NFL championship game.

The players were in Miami for the Playoff Bowl game and were watching the championship game on television. The bets were placed through a Florida friend of Karras—not a bookmaker. The others said it was done on impulse and that they never had bet on games at any other time.

Hornung began betting in 1959 through a U.S. west coast businessman but quit after the 1961 season. His bets on the Packers to win sometimes were as high as $500 though more often they were $50 or $100.

The Lions were fined because coach George Wilson failed to pass on information given by Detroit police about the association of some Lions players and because a game sideline pass was issued to unauthorized persons.

SEEN WITH HOODLUMS
Police reported that Detroit players had been seen with men who were under surveillance as "known hoodlums." Wilson saw some inaccuracies in these reports and minimized their importance. While penalizing the Detroit club for failing to report this to the league office, Rozelle said the players were guilty of nothing worse than bad judgment.

In announcing the end of the indefinite suspensions, Rozelle said there was no evidence that either player ever bet against his own team or failed to do his best in any football game.

Rozelle said he had established to his own satisfaction that each player now has a clear understanding of the seriousness of the offences and of the circumstances that brought them about.

Rozelle's prepared statement said: "Taking into prime consideration the extent of their violations and also their conduct during the period of suspension, it is felt that the best interests of the league will be best served by termination of the suspensions."

BOWLER OF WEEK
Current fivepin king in Times Bowler of the Week competition is Fred Hickey, who rolled fine 878 series at Loomer Lanes, Hickey, a physical training instructor at Royal Roads, fired games of 242, 268 and 368 in Mixed Classic League.

IN SCOTCH CUP
Dagg Rink Rates Role of Favorite

By ERNIE FEDORUK (Times Staff Writer)
CALGARY—The favorite's role has fallen, not unexpectedly, on the well-tailored shoulders of Lyall Dagg and his Vancouver rink as six countries prepared today to battle for the "world championship" of curling.

The first round of the Scotch Cup matches was scheduled for tonight in Calgary's Stampede Corral.

The interest on Sunday, however, wasn't centred on Dagg and his Canadian champions. Indeed, he appeared to be the "forgotten man" as rinks stepped on the ice for practice session.

All eyes were on the Europeans—rinks from Switzerland, Norway, Scotland and Sweden.

The only sharp difference between North American and European equipment seemed to be the brooms. The Canadians, the defending champions, and the U.S. rink skipped by Bob Magie of Duluth, Minn., both use the kitchen-type brooms so common in Canada.

The Europeans, like the Scots, use the "push-broom."

The championships are being held outside of Scotland for the first time in its six-year history. Choice of Canada as the host country has been long overdue since Canadian rinks have captured the "world crown" every year since the Scotch Whiskey Association put up the handsome trophy.

Regina's Ernie Richardson won it four times while Hee Gervais packed it away on the other occasion.

Interest in the event is running high. Curlers from as far away as Victoria—to the west—and Toronto—to the east—have come to Calgary to witness the four-day event.

The heaviest influx of out-of-towners is from Saskatchewan and Northern Alberta.

CLEAR FIVE-NINE . . . IN HIGH JUMP
Trail Girl Tops World Mark

CLEVELAND (CP-AP)—It was a night for record shattering at the 24th annual Knights of Columbus indoor track meet here Saturday and Canada shared the laurels.

Diane Gerace of Trail, B.C., set a world indoor women's record of five feet nine inches in the women's high jump.

In the featured mile event, Los Angeles salesman Jim Grelle whizzed over the 12-lap track in 4:02.3 to break by half a second Tom O'Hara's meet record set in 1962.

It was the first time in two years that the 20-year-old Miss Gerace had taken part in indoor competition. She established the record on her second try. The highest previous jump, the Pan-Am Games silver medalist had made was 5-6.

Abigail Hoffman of the Toronto Olympic Club far outdistanced the field in the women's 880-yard run and Bill Crothers, 23-year-old Toronto pharmacist, won the 660 in 1:10.4.

The U.S. indoor pole vault record tumbled as John Uelses soared to 15-4 1/2 on his first attempt. Brian Sternberg of the University of Washington had set the old U.S. indoor record at Milwaukee March 9 last year.

Cowichan Rugby Has Rose Aroma

Cowichan holds the Victoria Rugby Union's Rose Trophy for a second successive season. The experienced Lakers finished atop the first division Sunday by trouncing University of Victoria Vikings 26-3 in their last outing of the regular schedule.

TIME OUT

Who'd have thought it'd come to this over a paltry dime-a-hole bet!

BRODIES TIE GORGE

They can start engraving the name of Victoria West on the Garrison Cup today.

West clinched the cup and the coveted top spot in the Victoria District Soccer League's first division with a 2-1 victory over Kicker on Sunday.

Sunday's other first division matches ended in draws. Second-ranked Brodies tied third-place Gorge 3-3 in a rough affair at Heywood Avenue Park while Price and Smith drew with Canadian Scottish, 2-2.

Chummy Crabb and Cliff Newman of the Gorge and Brodies' John Craig and Bill Hamilton were ejected from the match because of rough play.

Price and Smith collected their point on goals by Tom Collett and Jim McGhee, off-setting Scot scoring shots by Stan Wiseman and Marty Taylor.

Navy clipped Kings 4-1 while University Vikings shut out Wanderers 3-0 in second division games.

CANADIANS JOLTED

Henry's Pair Paces United

Victoria United ho-hummed its way to a 2-1 victory over Vancouver Wallace's Saturday, and that Pacific Coast Soccer League result virtually assures the local side of a fourth-place finish.

Wallace and United attracted only 388 paying customers to Royal Athletic Park on Saturday. Most of them stayed on to the end, which turned out to be only surprise of the day.

Weather conditions were at their miserable worst, but the soccer ran a close second. A 50-mile-per-hour breeze made ball control impossible.

Winger Henry Vanderhorst scored his first two goals of the year to give United its seventh triumph of the season. Bob Dickson, scoring on a long shot that was dropped by Victoria's goal keeper, deprived Barry Sadler of his seventh shutout with about four minutes left in the game.

SIX POINTS UP
United's edge over fifth-place North Shore today stands at six points. While the mathematical possibilities are still in North Shore's favor, the schedule isn't.

Shores have five games remaining, including one important visit to Victoria. United has three games left, including one with lowly-ranked New Westminster and another with powerful Firefighters.

Shores' other remaining games include bouts with the Firemen, Canadians and Columbus—the three teams fighting it out for first place.

SEATTLE TIES
Canadians' bid for a second straight championship suffered a slight setback Sunday when the league leaders were held to a 2-2 tie by Seattle Hungarians before 1,300 fans.

The single point kept the Canadians in first place by one point over idle Columbus. However, Canadians now have just two games remaining while Columbus has three games left.

BANK CERTIFICATES SOLD OUT IN RUSH

TORONTO (CP)—Trustee subscription certificates of the proposed Bank of Western Canada were sold out quickly after being offered this morning, a securities analyst with one of the five investment houses acting as agents for the stock said today.

A total of 430,000 certificates at $15 each went on sale today in Western Canada and by mid-morning were quoted at $16.25 bid and $16.75 asked. Of the total, 230,000 were placed privately and 200,000 were sold to the public, all of it in Western Canada.

James E. Coyne, former governor of the Bank of Canada and one of the new bank's main backers, said he anticipated sales of the shares would go well, "judging from the number of inquiries we've had about the stock."

FORMER OIL DRILLER

Industrial Trophy Awarded McMahon

CALGARY (CP)—Frank M. McMahon of Calgary Friday received the 1963 Canadian industrial development trophy presented annually by the provincial governments trade and industry council.

Previous recipients of the national award, now entering its eighth year, include the late C. D. Howe, industrialist and Liberal trade minister. The honor is bestowed on Canadian citizens who have made a significant contribution to development in the public interest.

The award was presented by Alberta Industry Minister Russell Patrick during a Calgary chamber-of-commerce dinner at which the guest speaker was Dr. J. J. Deutsch of Ottawa, chairman of the Economic Council of Canada.

Dr. Deutsch stressed the importance of education and visionary individuals in the development of natural resources and national progress.

NATIVE OF B.C.
Mr. McMahon, 62, a native of Moyle, B.C., was educated in Calgary and attended Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash. Starting out as an oil driller, he turned operator and brought in his first well in the pioneer Turner Valley oil field in Alberta in 1938. The following year he established Pacific Petroleum Limited, now one of Canada's largest integrated petroleum companies.

Mr. McMahon resigned as president of Pacific Petroleum in 1962 to become chairman of Westcoast Transmission Company of Vancouver, a firm he founded in 1949, and which operates a major natural gas pipeline in British Columbia.

'KEEP PRICES AND COSTS IN CHECK'

OTTAWA (CP)—Louis Rasminsky, governor of the Bank of Canada, suggested Friday in his annual report that future balanced growth of the Canadian economy will depend in large part on keeping prices and costs in check.

He said there still is "substantial slack" in the overall economy and this undoubtedly has helped to produce relative stability of costs and prices during the last three years of economic expansion.

Sherritt Gordon Shows Healthy Gain in Profits

TORONTO (CP)—Sherritt Gordon Mines Ltd. has net profit of $2,710,539 for the year ended Dec. 31, 1963, up from $2,048,159 the previous year, president Eldon L. Brown said in the annual report.

Revenue from sales rose to $30,382,084 from last year's $23,646,665.

"Nickel sales were substantially in excess of production, resulting in a reduction of the inventory built up in 1962," Mr. Brown said, adding that "more nickel could have been sold in the latter half of the year if we had had the metal."

The firm has signed a contract to supply 50,000,000 blanks for five-cent pieces to the Royal Canadian Mint this year, Mr. Brown said. The outlook for 1964 operations appears "favorable."

PEARSON ON CYPRUS:

'Not Best Way To Do the Job'

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson called for a permanent international peacekeeping force under the United Nations Saturday night as Canadian troops headed for Cyprus as part of an improvised UN group to put down trouble on the Mediterranean island.

While he expressed the hope that the 7,000-man force will succeed in its mission, he said in a speech that he is "Not at all satisfied that this is the way of doing things."

'LET PARKS REVERT TO WILD STATE'

TORONTO (CP)—The director of the Canadian Audubon Society Saturday called for a national parks policy allowing reversion of parks to their natural state.

Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan, head of University of British Columbia's zoology department, told the society's annual meeting here he is opposed to timber cutting, mining and hunting in national parks.

He said park camp grounds "should not be slums with a view" and he spoke against commercial enterprises and high speed roads in the parks.

Dr. Cowan said United States national parks will be permitted to revert to their original state as far as possible and he suggested a similar policy should be adopted in Canada.

"How long are we to improve to do the job that should be done by the United Nations as a whole?" he asked in addressing a dinner of the Toronto and District Liberal Association.

"I hope to see the day when there will be a genuine international force available for use at a moment's notice and we will work as hard as we can to bring that about," he said, noting that Canada has been asking for such a force for years.

Speaking of Canada's part in the Cyprus operation, Mr. Pearson said this country had shown again that she is willing to assume her responsibilities under the UN. The job facing the Canadian troops was a difficult and dangerous one, but the policy had been worked out with the UN to ensure that they would be able to do it in the best possible way.

It was a matter of pride that Canada was almost the first country approached to contribute to the Cyprus force, and she has been the first to commit her troops.

Prospectors Plead For Rights in Woods

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia prospectors say they are concerned about difficulties of pursuing their profession in timbered areas.

A total of 67 prospectors have signed a petition to the legislature's special committee on access, making a plea for steps to ensure "long-standing rights."

The men have made their appeal through the B.C. and Yukon Chamber of Mines.

The petition says prospectors in recent years have had difficulty gaining access into privately-owned timbered areas to search for mineral deposits.

The prospectors ask that they be allowed to travel freely in mountainous areas of B.C., to use all access roads with discretion, to camp in forest areas and light camp fires for cooking and warmth.

Says the petition: "Before allowing use of access roads, some large timber interests have demanded prospectors sign agreements which prevent them from camping out and lighting fires. We should emphasize that in this vast rugged, wet and cold province, the right to camp in the mountains for extended periods of time and to build camp fires in order to obtain food, warmth and survival are an inherent right of the profession."

ALBERT LEADER of the Progressive Conservative party, Milton Harradence, resigned Sunday after serving 18 months in the office. Business pressure was given as the reason. Mr. Harradence was defeated in Calgary West in the 1963 election in which no Conservatives were elected to the Alberta legislature.

WRONG IDENTIFICATION MISLED PARENTS

Tragedy Ends 11-Hour Vigil

VANCOUVER (CP)—A couple sat for 11 hours in a hospital waiting room, believing their daughter had survived a crash that killed three other persons.

Then they learned their daughter was one of the victims.

Another couple went into mourning when police said their daughter had been killed in the accident. Finally, they discovered the girl was alive.

The confusion came after a two-car collision Saturday night on a busy highway 20 miles east of Vancouver. Killed instantly were April Heather Borthwick, 16, Sharon Lynn Graham, 17, both of New Westminster, and John Herbert Beale, 35, of North Surrey.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Borthwick kept the vigil at the hospital from midnight Saturday to 11 a.m. Sunday.

Stephanie Johanson, 16, of New Westminster — at first believed killed — finally regained consciousness as doctors fought to save her life and was identified correctly.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johanson, rushed to the hospital, where her condition remained critical Sunday afternoon.

RCMP said two independent identifications proved in error. A friend of the Borthwick and Johanson girls — who were similar in appearance — viewed the bodies after the accident, and Mr. Borthwick saw the surviving girl in hospital, and believed it to be his daughter, confirming the friend's mistake.

Royal Oak Buys Old Field Farm

The Victoria-registered firm of Royal Oak Farms Ltd. has added 600 acres of the old Field Farm at Metehosin to its agricultural holdings.

Company president Louis Lindholm said today, "We plan to run sheep or cattle on the property — precisely what it has always been used for. The company has no other present plans for development."

Owner was Lee L. Field, 81, of 4244 Happy Valley Road, who has lived all his life there. The farm was bought about 85 years ago by his father, Edward Spellman Field.

BROTHER DIED

Until last year, Mr. Field ran the farm with his brother, Chester, who died in October at the age of 87.

Barber Won't Trim Negroes, Closes Shop

NENIA, Ohio (AP)—Lewis Gagner, a college town barber who has been arrested or in court at least 29 times since 1960 because he refuses to cut the hair of Negroes, says he is closing his shop indefinitely.

Gagner's decision was made on the eve of today's preliminary hearing for the first of some 110 persons arrested during a near-riot at his Yellow Springs shop Saturday.

Gagner, obviously shaken by Saturday's demonstration, told the Associated Press the move does not mean he is giving up "but is being made for the safety of my wife and son and the dignity of the community."

Gagner said that he would have closed his shop that morning had he known that a demonstration of such intensity was coming. Tear gas and fire hoses were used by police in an effort to disperse the demonstrators, mostly students from Antioch College, at Yellow Springs and Wilberforce University and Central State College, both at nearby Wilberforce.

Yellow Springs is a western Ohio community of about 4,200. The huge demonstration was prompted by a court injunction approved last Friday limiting the number of pickets at the shop to three at a time and to an area five feet wide and 19 feet long in front of the shop. Those arrested were charged with contempt of court for violating the injunction.

Mr. Field said the purchase price was $60,000, covering the land west of Happy Valley Road. The remaining property east of the road, about 50 acres, will be retained by the family. The former owner said he probably would give it to daughters living in Esquimalt, Kelowna and New Westminster.

The large tract had a saw-mill, operated by water power from a stream that runs through the land.

FOR INVESTMENT

An agent for Ker and Stephenson, which handled the deal, described the purchase as being for investment purposes.

He said in his opinion it would lend itself to a country club type of development including golf course, self-contained community of perhaps 80 homes and other recreational facilities.

Mr. Field said he sold because he is unable to operate the farm alone.

Royal Oak Farms Ltd. also will operate the former W. H. Gould farm, covering about 124 acres on Blenkinsop Road.

Arthur Mayse

Through the magic of three fat, leather-bound volumes, it was my luck last weekend to meet an angler who in his own lifetime, became a legend among Vancouver Island sport fishermen.

His name was Noel Money . . . Brigadier-General Noel Money, CMG, DSO, of Qualicum . . . and his catches ranged from searun cutthroat trout through steelhead and salmon to basking sharks. As a young subaltern in 1880, he left the trout streams of England and the Scottish lochs for Kipling's India. He was wounded in South Africa, and a war later, rode with Allenby to Jerusalem.

Between wars, and in the midst of them when the chance offered, he hunted and fished.

Most of all, he fished. When I was a boy, I saw him a time or two at the mouth of Nile Creek or in Big Qualicum River estuary.

A tall, spare, absorbed figure waist-deep in the flow. He hooked big searun cutthroat trout where others caught only weed, played them neatly and netted them skilfully, then tramped off in his high waders to a car which for many years carried British Columbia licence plate No. 1.

"The General," Up-Island anglers called him. They kept handy in their boxes the trout fly which bears his name. He pioneered fly fishing for steelhead in the Stamp and Ash Rivers, and found time to operate a golf course and a famed resort hotel.

Also, from August 12, 1881, in England, to December 16, 1940, at Qualicum, Brig-Gen. Noel Money kept a record of his days afield.

It is also the record of such a life as won't be lived again. The times have changed; the Royal Irish Fusiliers no longer war with the Pathan on the Northwest Frontier and ride breakbone courses at polo and pig-sticking betweenwhiles. "Hooked my first salmon," Noel Money noted as a boy of 19 in April, 1886. "The line broke."

And on October 7, 1940: "A salmon broke me." But The General, boy and man, didn't breach much gear.

"May 22, 1890: Ten days' leave to Chausa, 34 miles from Delhi. Twenty-three pig in seven days, and I was lucky enough to kill 15 of them."

Even to skim the surface of a chronicle so complete would take more space by far than we have here. I can only touch on a very few of its highlights.

The fish and game record, in black ink and sometimes red, occupies the lower half of each page.

North of Jerusalem, on February 28, 1917, we learn that a certain Col. Lawrence shot a woodcock.

Again, on September 9, 1923, The General attended the wedding of his son, Gordon, at Victoria. That was a red-letter entry, as was the terse note which follows:

"Interfered with my fishing."

But even more than the written jottings, the photographs, sketches, and souvenirs that top each page portray The General's life.

There are early pictures of young ladies sedately riding side saddle, and blue-jean girls of a later generation astride their ponies. Attached to one page-top is military scrip issued to civilians in a besieged and hungry Mafeking. Others boast such items as the tail of a boar speared by The General in his India days; beautifully-tied English salmon flies; and the menu for a 1903 wedding breakfast.

A newspaper clipping dated October 5, 1939, records the death of Maud Money, who shared that wedding breakfast with a captain home from war.

The last item in the last journal was set down on December 16, 1940, a day on which The General caught no steelhead. He died the following May at the age of 72, a distinguished Vancouver Islander and a rare fine angler.

Stage Lights Come Bright For 14 Acts

Fourteen local acts were chosen Sunday after auditions for the Spring Flower Festival talent revue.

The acts, chosen from 17 entrants, added to Roy Gordon at the Dominion Hotel. Mr. Gordon is producing the talent revue for the festival. ## Three In Court For Driving While Impaired

Three impaired drivers appeared in court today and one, a woman, was sentenced to 20 days in jail. The other two were remanded to March 24 for sentence because they said they needed their licences for business.

Yvette Simeyen, 2835 Rita Road, was picked up on Fisgard Street Feb. 1 after police saw her car weave across the centre line. She registered 28 per cent blood alcohol content when tested by a Breathalyzer, court was told.

Evidence showed she was convicted of impaired driving in 1962 and Magistrate William Ostler imposed the 20-day sentence despite a plea by her defence counsel, Lloyd McKenzie, for the minimum 14-day sentence to be imposed.

Dimas Martinis, 1231 Balmoral, was arrested after he hit the rear of a car at Discovery while driving along Douglas Saturday night.

Ralph Brown, 645 Dunedin, was also picked up on Douglas Saturday evening after he too ran into the rear of another vehicle.

Magistrate Ostler decided to obtain a probation report before deciding whether to suspend their licences.

Young City Artist Ready To Send JFK Portraits

A young Victoria artist is painting a series of oil portraits of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and the late President Kennedy from photographs provided by Mrs. Kennedy.

Hawaiian-born Albert Sterling, 26, of 1407 Fort Street, is now working on the portraits. He said he wrote to the White House asking for the photographs just prior to the president's assassination.

"I received a reply from Mrs. Kennedy's secretary saying she wished to have the paintings made. Enclosed was a selection of individual photos of the president and Mrs. Kennedy, and one of them together."

SEND SOON

From these Mr. Sterling has already painted two portraits in dark paint which he will send to Mrs. Kennedy soon.

Now he is starting work on three colored portraits.

measuring 4 1/2 by 6 feet.

"I shall show these to Mrs. Kennedy when I go to Washington in July and ask her permission to show them at an exhibition to be staged by the International Artists' Association in New York."

"I shall make one portrait of late president, one of Mrs. Kennedy and one of Mrs. Kennedy and her brother-in-law, Robert Kennedy."

HERE SINCE 1937

Mr. Sterling said he was born in Honolulu and started painting about 10 years ago. He came to Victoria in 1957 and has now applied for Canadian citizenship.

He drew a pencil sketch of Princess Margaret during her visit here in July, 1958, and presented it to her personally at the Empress Hotel.

"I received a letter of thanks from her secretary," Mr. Sterling said.

Patience Runs Out With Garbage Dump

Angry ratepayers today will try to clamp the lid on Greater Victoria's vast, rat-infested communal garbage can.

A committee of Prospect Lake Community Association was to meet today to explore means of halting the dumping of garbage on a huge littered tract at the end of Hartland Road.

"Delivery has got to stop bang on," association president G. A. C. Denford, 163 Goward, said.

"The people's patience is at an end. They can't stand these deplorable conditions any longer."

Mr. Denford said complaint of the dump, used by Victoria, Saanich, Central Saanich and Sidney, was made last May 22 to Metropolitan Board of Health.

BAD SITUATION

It was agreed then the situation was bad, he said.

"But the rats and unsanitary conditions haven't changed in 10 months," Mr. Denford added.

The operation is run by Victoria Disposal Co. Ltd., Box 399, New Westminster, which has no known local direction.

"We can't find out who was responsible for the original agreement. I think it was supposed to be only temporary."

"But it hasn't been looked after or run properly and as a result we have hundreds of seagulls, rats and pollution."

INTO LAKE

Mr. Denford said residents can prove the runoff is draining into Killarney Lake, once a "beautiful, clear body, now dirty and refuse-littered."

This drains into Prospect Lake, one of the area's best warm-water recreational spots.

"The coliform count (bacterial) is quite high in this creek, the highest in the district," Mr. Denford said referring to the connection with Killarney Lake.

He said the committee prob-

Young Driver Still In Coma, Others Improve

Still in critical condition and unconscious at Royal Jubilee Hospital is Larry Williams, 17, of 2912 Quadra.

He was passenger in a car that went out of control and hit a telephone pole on Maplewood Feb. 29.

Two persons injured when their car went out of control on West Saanich Road last Thursday are showing a slight improvement in condition at St. Joseph's Hospital. They are Peter Shaw, 17, of 1586 Verling, and Richard Fletcher, 19, of 1073 Steilly's Cross Road.

Downtown Area At 'Crossroads'

Still Time To Tidy Up Says Mayor

In a straightforward speech to more than 100 business representatives today, Mayor R. B. Wilson said rejuvenation of the downtown area depends on merchants and property owners in the final analysis.

The meeting in the Empress Hotel was arranged by City Hall to start its campaign aimed at persuading downtown businessmen to improve their properties, particularly by participating in a coordinated paint-up program.

"I do not believe it would be an understatement to say that downtown Victoria is at the crossroads," the mayor's prepared speech warned.

"If landlords and tenants are unwilling to improve the appearance of their buildings and if we do not make downtown an attractive place to visit and to shop, then it is almost certain that new and more attractive areas will develop."

HIGHER COST

This would force property values in the commercial core to drop and postpone for many years any substantial comeback, and then only at much higher cost, Mayor Wilson said.

"There is still time if we bestir ourselves to tidy up, paint up and pretty up an area that has tremendous attraction and appeal," he declared drawing attention to some "fine examples" of pleasing painting projects in recent months.

Mayor Wilson said the "character" built into many downtown buildings when erected years ago was an advantage in dressing up the area.

MORE ATTRACTIVE

"We can, with modest sums of money, bring back the appearance of these buildings. In fact, with the use of modern colors and a little imagination, they can become even more attractive than when they were new."

He said solid support of the business community for the city's program of suggesting harmonious color combinations for whole city blocks—starting this year in the Government Street tourist area—would give the city "something quite unique."

DRAW OUTSIDERS

"We can create an atmosphere that, through its attractiveness, will draw not only the tourists to us but also the retail shoppers from the surrounding districts," the mayor said.

The audience included representatives of the Victoria Real Estate Board, Chamber of Commerce, Downtown Businessmen's Association and other business groups as well as individual property owners.

Lawyer Gets Coroner Post

Lawyer E. D. Jorre de St. Jorre has been appointed Victoria coroner.

He will take over from Dr. John H. Moore, who retires on April 16.

A cabinet order today says Dr. Moore is retiring because he has reached the age of 75.

Mr. St. Jorre, who is currently Dr. Moore's deputy, was federal returning officer for Victoria in the last general election.

Navy Stages Recall Exercise

The 12 officers and 190 crew members of Esquimalt-based frigate HMCS Stettler were ordered aboard ship in a routine recall test late Sunday evening.

The Stettler is now on training exercises in the Strait of Juan de Fuca and is due back Tuesday afternoon.

OFFICIAL VISITS HERE

Israel Ready Soon To Irrigate South

Barring action by surrounding Arab states, Israel expects to begin pumping Jordan River waters to its arid southern region sometime this year.

Possible action, according to Shmuel Bendor, is diversion of the Jordan's two northern sources, which would seriously stem the flow into Israel.

Mr. Bendor is deputy director-general in the Israeli prime minister's department. He will speak at Temple Emanuel at 8 p.m.

He is visiting Victoria today on a Canada-wide tour addressing universities and Jewish communities.

He spoke to Victoria University students this afternoon.

THIRD SOURCE

If the diversion is carried out, Mr. Bendor said in an interview, it would leave Israel with the third source, the Dan.

"It would have no economic purpose for the Arab states," he said. "It would only be to spite Israel."

Such action on the two northern sources would be regarded by Israel as a hostile act, he said.

"We cannot rule out the possibility of military action by Israel if the water is diverted."

BORN IN IRELAND

Mr. Bendor, 54, was born in Ireland and has been in Israel (formerly Palestine) since 1932.

He lives in the divided city of Jerusalem, just 200 metres from the frontier.

"I don't feel as though I'm living in a divided city," he said. "There is alertness, but no fear."

"If East-West relations were to become more normal, and there was not the Great Power struggle in the Middle East, it would affect positively relations between the Arab states and Israel."

COLD WAR

Weapons shipped by the Eastern bloc to Arab states are not part of Arab-Israeli relations, he said, but "part of the cold war."

"All countries in the area are devoting too much money to arming."

Lebanon to the north, he said, is always very quiet. Jordan "realizes its existence depends on the existence of Israel."

"Our main trouble is Syria, perpetually in a state of turmoil."

Magistrate 'Wonders' About Youths

Magistrate William Ostler wondered aloud if two youths who appeared in Saanich court today were "mentally deficient."

Johannes Minten, 19, of 1131 Palmer, and William Warren, 18, of 3973 Saanich Road, pleaded guilty to causing a common nuisance.

Evidence by Corporal Bob Peterson showed they released the brakes on a car parked at Cedar Hill Cross Road and Quadra late Sunday night and pushed it into some bushes.

Then they went to Greenridge Crescent and Tulsa, uprooted some cement blocks and put them in the middle of the road at the crest of a hill.

They left the scene, went to McKenzie and Quadra and placed drainage tiles on the road. A motorist removed the tiles and they put them back together with a sign they picked up.

BACK AGAIN

The obstructions were again removed by a passing motorist and the two accused again put them back on the road, this time adding a car that they moved from a service station lot.

Cpl. Peterson said Warren was caught at the scene and after talking to police for an hour he admitted the offence.

Asked the magistrate: "You're not mentally deficient, are you?" One youth said he wasn't and the other said he didn't think so.

Both were remanded to Thursday for a probation report and sentence.

SHMUEL BENDOR

... alertness, no fear

"It's tempting for them to take potshots."

Anti-Semitism—showing up in a country such as Canada should be feared—by Canadians, he said.

"You should be worried for your own sake. It's a disease."

Mr. Bendor attributes it to wrong teaching, and that Jews were held responsible for killing Jesus.

"All Jews are blamed for something that happened so long ago," he said.

A. No; phone city police detectives' office.

Q. How many Canadians died in the First and Second World Wars? M. R.

A. The books of remembrance in the Parliament Buildings Peace Tower in Ottawa list the names of 66,651 Canadians who died in active service in the First World War and 44,891 who died in the Second World War.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to "The Times," addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

PITY THE POOR PHONE COMPANY . . . If it isn't one thing it's another, harassed officials were moaning today as they looked at a new variety of vandalism. Forced a few days ago to remove telephone pay stations on the Malahat because of continued assaults by vandals, now they are faced with pole chopping. The hacking took place on a pole at Douglas and Elliott Streets. The pole will have to be replaced. It is viewed here by civil servant Ross Peterson on his way to work this morning. (Times Photo.)

SHOPPING GUIDE

Venetian Glass Beads
Handmade In New Shop

By PENNY SAVER

While out shopping the other day, the following sign caught Penny's eye: "Come to our little shop, where you can watch us melt and form original Venetian glass into beads of all shapes and colors."

On entering the shop, the browser is greeted with beautifully arranged displays of beads in every color and design. "We can make beads in any shade to match your clothes or your eyes," the proprietor informed Penny.

Glass rods, imported from Italy, are melted down and mixed with colored glass chips. This mixture is then melted and shaped into individual beads over a gas torch.

While being shaped, beads are held on fine copper tubing. This is later dissolved in acid, leaving a hole through the bead for stringing.

Necklace and earring sets are priced at $1.95, $3.95 and $7.95 according to size of beads; drop earrings for pierced ears, $2.95; clip-on earrings, $1.45 and $1.95; bracelets, $3; hatpins, 75 cents, and rosaries in any color and shape, $3.95.

Shop also deals in hand-painted sweaters. Children's are priced at $3.95 and $6.95; and women's from $7.95 upwards. Men can have ties painted for $2.50 each.

Designs are first applied with pencil then outlined with tube paints much in the same way as cakes are decorated.

Paints are imported from Germany and can be washed or dry-cleaned without fear of fading or running.

The customer's own choice of design is used and artist will also design linen, tea cosies and place mats.

Shop does all its work right on the premises and the public are welcome to drop in for a demonstration of either of these arts.

If you would like further information on name and location of shop selling these items, call Penny at 382-3131.

SPADEA DESIGNER PATTERN

Lachasse of London undoubtedly had a gleam in his eye when he designed this dress. He basically believes in designing clothes that show off the feminine figure to its best advantage. For instance, there is nothing more becoming than a low square neckline. This one is banded and top stitched for emphasis. The beautifully-fitted torso tops the most cleverly designed skip-pleated skirt. It is so easy to step in and out of with its buttoned back closing. Since it is adaptable in many fabrics and very easy to make, make it for this summer season. Try using linen, novelty cottons, shantung, pique or lightweight woolsens. To select your correct size, use Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear size chart.

Size	Bust	Waist	Hips	Length
10	34	24	35	16 1/4 inches
12	35	25	36	16 1/2 inches
14	36 1/2	26 1/2	37 1/2	17 inches
16	38	28	39	17 1/4 inches
18	40	30	41	17 3/4 inches

*From nape of neck to waist.

Size 12 requires 4 1/2 yards of 42-inch fabric for the dress. To order Pattern No. NS-311, state size; send $1.00. Add 25c for first class mail and special handling. Pattern Books Nos. 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26 and revised Duchess of Windsor are available for 50c each, or any three for $1.25, or all seven for $3.00. Add 10c postage for each book. WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Men Speak Up About the Female Traits That Irritate Them

For a couple of days I am reporting some of the things men wrote to me after reading a column I had about what men find attractive and unattractive.

The following are excerpts from a letter sent to me by 14 men, seven of whom are married and seven of whom are bachelors.

"Things we find embarrassing or aggravating: A woman or girl who constantly interrupts conversation—one who is loud—one who becomes angry over small unimportant things, either in conversation or because of unavoidable circumstances—one who gets into an argument with another female over a dress or heirlooms at a gathering of both sexes—one who fusses with her hair while seated in a restaurant—one who cuddles up to a man in public—one who wears so much hair spray that her hair feels like a porcupine—one who goes to a dance with one man and goes home with another one who flirts with other men when on a date—one who orders a meal her date cannot afford and then only eats half of it."

"That is quite a list! Next are the things they really can't stand: an intoxicated woman or girl—one who uses rough language—one who is careless about personal hygiene and is poorly groomed—one whose hair is cut like a boy's—one who wears too much make-up or lots of heavy jewelry—red polish which covers poorly cared-for nails, and girls or women who are not at all interested in, and have no skill in the domestic arts such as cooking and sewing."

These men say, "The seven of us who are married have our ideal in women, and we might add, we had a lot of screening to do in order to find them. The seven of us who are single will remain single until we find something better than we have found so far. We have good jobs, have a fair amount of money saved and own our own cars (paid for). We live in bachelor apartments and do our own housework, washing, ironing and cooking; thanks to the teaching of our married friends' wives."

About slacks: men do not really like them but they approve of them for wear when doing housework or gardening or in very cold weather or for a hike in the country. They have one reservation even then. Some women look well in slacks and some simply do not have the figure, and should never wear them."

One amusing letter says, "I don't mind slacks so much as what they have taken the slack out of slacks and even stretch materials. Then there is the sloppy slack, whacked off midway between the ankle and knee, and the rolled up blue jeans, the more the things they really can't stand: an intoxicated woman or girl—one who uses rough language—one who is careless about personal hygiene and is poorly groomed—one whose hair is cut like a boy's—one who wears too much make-up or lots of heavy jewelry—red polish which covers poorly cared-for nails, and girls or women who are not at all interested in, and have no skill in the domestic arts such as cooking and sewing."

HONEY APPLE ROLL

Pastry for a 2-crust pie, 1/4 cup liquid honey, 1 1/2 cups peeled, chopped apple, 1/2 cup chopped dates, 3 tablespoons chopped walnuts, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 2 tablespoons liquid honey.

Roll pastry out in two rectangles about 10 inches by 7 inches. Spread each with honey to about 1/4 inch from edges of pastry. Sprinkle with remaining ingredients. Roll pastry up like a jelly roll and seal edges firmly to prevent honey bubbling out during cooking.

Place rolls on a cookie sheet and bake in a hot (425 deg. F.) oven until golden brown, 25 to 30 minutes.

Spread remaining two tablespoons of honey over top of cooked rolls. Serve warm topped with whipped cream or ice cream. Six servings.

Note: To make a richer pastry use 1/2 cup butter in place of 1/4 cup of the shortening.

A path through the woods is all that separates the home of Mary Gibbs from publishers Gray and Eleanor Campbell. Her study, where she types copy, looks out on a tranquil garden that gives little hint of the activity going on in the district.

Eleanor Campbell and son, Ian, pack books for some of the many orders that come in from all parts of the world. "Packing House" is a tiny corner of the cabin that is on the property adjoining the Campbell cottage. Charts on the walls, tracing sales of the local enterprise, show a steady spiral upwards.

When Gray Campbell wants the opinion of Flos Jewell Williams, he borrows one of his son's bicycles and pedals the few yards to her home. Atmosphere may be relaxed, but there's nothing easy-going about Flos Williams' summations. She draws on years of experience as an author as the OKs or "thumbs-down" an aspiring writer's manuscript.

Small Cottage at Deep Cove Becomes Centre of Thriving Industry

By PAT DUFUR

Beneath the somewhat sleepy atmosphere of Deep Cove, a mental eruption is taking place. It centres around the rustic home of Gray and Eleanor Campbell, but its effect is being felt in many countries of the world.

Pivot of the excitement is the publishing business which the Campbells began in 1961. Truly a cottage industry, it gravitates around a small cottage on the Campbell property from which books of Canadiana have spelled a world-wide message.

In these days of big business, it is exciting to see a couple with the courage of their convictions who are willing to gamble everything on a new venture.

EVERYTHING VENTURED

This is what the Campbells have done. Gray Campbell's pride in his wife is obvious as he reports:

"We now have an $8,000 personal note riding on our venture. We put everything on the line: home, car, everything! Eleanor didn't even bat an eye."

They are both quick to add, "We are rounding the corner now and beginning to smell success."

How does a cottage industry get started? In the case of the Campbells, it all began at the Victoria College's night course in journalism.

Gray recalls, "I happened to sit next to John Windsor a few times. We struck up a friendship. He told me he would like to write a book and I pushed and prodded until he got the bit between his teeth and started to write."

Writing a book was more difficult for John Windsor than most people. He was blinded while serving with the army in Italy during the Second World War.

FIRST BOOK

But eventually, the book was finished and the Campbells set to work. They commandeered the services of a neighbor, Flos Jewell Williams, as literary critic. Herself an author, Flos Williams is now the channel through which all aspiring writers' manuscripts are funnelled in the local business.

Another neighbor, Mary Gibbs, soon joined the team. Before her marriage, Mrs. Gibbs was private secretary to an English novelist. Today she prepares all the copy.

Reversing usual procedures, the Campbells decided to bring out John Windsor's book, "Blind Date" in paper-back form first. So successful was the first printing, that the book soon made its appearance with a hard cover.

OTHERS BORN

All in all, six books have been "born" through the local business and "two more are in the works." Latest to appear is R. M. Patterson's "Far Pastures."

Of what stuff are publishers made?

Certainly, they must be prepared to take a gamble and, perhaps it helps if they have a colorful background of their own to fall back on.

Gray Campbell is blessed with both requisites. Born and raised in Ottawa, he began his career as a "Mountie" but this was only to last seven years.

"When the Second World War broke out, I bought myself out of the RCMP and set out for England and the Royal Air Force."

It was in England that he met Eleanor and married.

After the war, the Campbells returned to Canada and Gray "tried to settle in business at Ottawa."

But, he'd "had enough of discipline and regulations" so the Campbells packed their belongings (including one wee son) and headed west in a car and trailer.

Very first use of soothing, cooling liquid D.D.D. Prescription positively relieves raw red itch—caused by eczema, rashes, scalp irritation, chafing—other itchy troubles. Greasiness, stinging. The relief must satisfy or money back. Don't suffer. Ask your druggist for D.D.D. PRESCRIPTION.

They'd made up their minds to be ranchers.

When the car stopped, they were at Cowley, near the Montana border. Neither of them had had any experience in ranching. This had to be acquired before they could apply for a grant under the Veterans' Land Act.

Gray called on some of the ranchers he'd known when he'd patrolled the area as a "Mountie" and persuaded one to "train" them. For six months Eleanor learned the skills of a rancher's wife while her husband became "chose boy."

Here, fate took a hand. "The head VLA man at Banff was Clint Miller. When I was a Mountie, I'd been involved in a hold-up incident. It resulted in two of my buddies being killed. Two of us got away. Clint was the brother-in-law of the man that was held up."

Mr. Miller warmed to the pioneering couple immediately, the upshot being that the Campbells found themselves the proud owners of 2,000 acres at Squaw Butte in the Porcupine Hills.

It was here, with a little persuasion from a publisher friend, that Gray became an author. "I was so thrilled when I received a cheque for $250 for a story about our venture into ranching."

The Campbells ranched for 12 years then headed west again, this time to Vancouver Island.

Little did they dream that their arrival here would mean the beginning of yet another adventure.

"When you're 51," says Gray Campbell, "it's exciting to get your teeth into a new field, especially one that's so creative. It's just like getting an extra bonus."

Rights to Jury Duty Demanded for Women

TORONTO (CP)—Until jury duty for women is compulsory in Ontario, women will feel like second-class citizens, a group of women's organizations has told Premier John Robarts.

A brief asking that the law be changed has been submitted by the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Ontario on behalf of clubs representing 70,000 women.

Under clause 4 of the Ontario Jurors Act a woman may be exempted from jury duty simply by signing a statement reading: "I, being a woman, claim exemption from jury service for one year."

"The assumption is that the vast majority of women between the ages of 21 and 70, the age group eligible for jury duty, have small children and can't leave them," said Margaret Hyndman of the Zonta Clubs of Ontario.

INEQUALITIES — "Most people are in favor of our jury system and I don't think it can be said that a cross-section of the community is on a jury if there are no women on it."

Miss Hyndman, a corporation lawyer, added that when women are not required to meet the full obligations of citizenship they feel like second-class citizens. And inequality was reflected in pay standards and unequal opportunities for promotion.

Margaret Ashdown of Toronto, Ontario Business and Professional Women's Clubs president, said the group has been submitting briefs to the government on the subject since 1957. This year they asked members to write to the legislature members at the time the brief was presented.

Mrs. Leonard Trivers of Thessalon, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, said her organization also favors the change.

He defines style as the regional adaptation of trend-setting fashion designs, usually from Europe.

'BARE LOOK' — This year the bare look is the style, adapted from toe-revealing Paris fashion. Mr. Wallace considers this a natural extension of the current Paris trend for showing as much female as possible.

With the open heel, toe-cleavage style has become a new interest in leathers.

Patents head the list, and Mr. Wallace says an Italian development is making it possible to produce patents that will not crack. Colored and iridescent patents are growing in popularity.

He maintains Canadian women are spoiled in their choice of shoe sizes. They have eight widths to choose from in most size ranges. In Europe, he says, where fashions originate and leathers are produced, the store which carries double or triple A's in its stock is so proud of the unusual fact, it emphasizes it in advertisements.

Ski Nursery — ST. SAUVEUR, Que. ## Cawdell-Eveleigh Vows Heard

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Cawdell travelled from Mission City, B.C., to attend the marriage of their son AB Kenneth Alfred Cawdell, RCN, and Irene Jean Eveleigh, Saturday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Eveleigh, 3755 Seaton Street.

Plum blossoms, pink carnations and fern decorated St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for the double-ring ceremony at which Rev. Charles Scott officiated. Soloist, Miss Sue Watson, sang "O Perfect Love" during signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length-white satin brocade gown. The belled skirt was accented with two bows at waistline and featured a back panel which extended into a train. The bodice was styled with scooped-neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The sleeves were highlighted with daret edges and godet insets. Her three-tier, shoulder-length net veil misted from a crown of orange blossoms and pearl sequins. Only jewelry was culture pearl necklace and earrings, gift of the groom. Red roses and white freesia were in her cascade bouquet.

Silk organza gowns styled with buffant skirts and enhanced with toning pearls were worn by her attendants. Shell pink was choice of maid of honor, Miss Joy Sims, and seafoam green was worn by bridesmaids, the Misses Diane Eveleigh and Marie McPherson. All wore matching whimsies made by Miss Sims and carried bouquets of pink carnations and seafoam green ribbon.

Best man was Pte. Don Barclay and ushers were ACI Rick Hill and LAC Mel Waddele.

RECEPTION — James McPherson proposed the toast at a reception which followed in the Tally-Ho banquet hall. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake which was made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. W. Sims. The cake was topped with a vase of pink roses and surrounded by pink roses and fern.

The couple will spend their honeymoon here before travelling to Cornwallis, N.S., where they will make their home.

The bride's going-away outfit was a dark blue two-piece wool suit with brown accessories, matching whimsie and white carnation corsage.

'SILLY CLOT' MUST HUMOR MOODY WIFE

LONDON (UPI)—A court here refused Friday to grant Roger T. Elvy a legal separation, saying he should humor his wife when she calls him names and slaps him around instead of resenting her behavior.

"Wives are creatures of mood," said Divorce Judge Samuel R. Edgedale. "If they get into a mood it is up to the husband to get them out of it... tell them they're wonderful and make a fuss over them."

Edgedale rejected Elvy's argument that it was "inexcusable conduct" for his wife to call him a "silly clot" or even less endearing names and to hit him on the arm, abdomen or back.

Close Decision

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP)—Twin sisters from nearby Don decided between them who would apply for a University of Waterloo scholarship for a year's French-language study at the University of Strasbourg, in France. Edith Buerkle sent for the forms, Gerhild filled them out and won the scholarship. Dr. Frances Montgomery, head of Waterloo's French department, said both were so close she didn't know which one to select. Both want to be high school teachers.

DEAR ABBY...

Needs Help, Now!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son, is now 14 years old. My husband and I were divorced three years ago. The law officer told me at that time that when the boy reached the age of 13 he could choose which parent he wanted to live with. Well, he chose his father, and the officials told me that I couldn't even see the boy unless he wanted to come and see me. This week he came to my house. His shoes were worn out, his clothes were a mess, and he looked as though he hadn't had a haircut in six months. He had money in his pocket, though. I always kept him looking nice, Abby. What kind of law do we have that let's a 14-year-old boy go around looking like a bum? Or is there any such law? I think I have been tricked.

A BUM'S MOTHER. DEAR MOTHER: Your husband apparently is not looking after the boy properly. Talk this over with a lawyer, or go to the local Legal Aid Society and find out what can be done in a case like this.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to the bride who neglected to acknowledge her wedding gifts: We have the same situation in our family. Our granddaughter was married last summer. We sent her a costly wedding gift, which she has yet to acknowledge. A thank-you note need not be over 20 words, and I am just ornery enough to see to it that the omission of those 20 words will cost that little brat exactly one thousand clams per word. That ought to flatten a few high hair-dos.

GRANDPA THE KNIFE.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a person who quarrels in front of company?

WONDERING. DEAR WONDERING: Not much. And it's good to remember that two is company.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Parents and Daughter Wed By Same Clergyman

Rev. T. H. McAllister and Rev. S. J. Parsons officiated at the marriage of Virginia Ann Lane and Victor Edward Foster, Saturday evening.

Rev. McAllister also had heard marriage vows exchanged between the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Malcolm Lane, 26 years ago, and officiated at the christening of the bride.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Douglas Foster, of Port Alberni.

"Spring blossoms decorated Centennial United Church for the ceremony. Soloist, June Bolton, sang "Because" during signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length brocade gown that she made herself. The gown was patterned with lily of the valley and featured a scalloped neckline, lily point sleeves and slight train. Her fine net veil misted to shoulder-length from a tiara of rhinestones and aurora borealis. Only jewelry was culture pearl necklace and earrings, gift of the groom. Red carnations were in her bouquet.

Identical gowns of red crystal charm with shoes in tone and red pillbox headpieces, trimmed with white veiling, were choice of maid of honor, Miss Mavis Veness, cousin of the bride, and bridesmaids, the Misses Barbara Foster, sister of the groom, and Pamela Lane, the bride's sister. All carried bouquets of white carnations.

The bride's petite cousin, Leanna Bissett, and Barbara Clare, Portland, Ore., were flower girls in white nylon frocks with red sashes. They wore red bandeaux wreathed with white flowers and carried bouquets of red carnations.

Bert Morrey was best man and guests were ushered to their pews by Frank Veness, cousin of the bride, and Donald Fraser, brother of the groom.

Dave Wright, godfather of the bride, proposed the toast at a reception which followed in St. Martin-in-the-Fields Church Hall. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake decorated in pink and white and topped with pink bells. Spring flowers completed the decor.

For travelling on a honeymoon trip to Los Angeles and San Francisco, the bride donned a pink fitted suit, toning hat and black accessories. A white carnation corsage completed the ensemble.

On return, the couple will make their home in Victoria. Many guests came from Portland, Powell River, Uclulet, Vancouver and Port Alberni for the ceremony.

FIRST 100 DAYS

Johnson Disowns Ex-Senate Aide

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Johnson has disowned Bobby Baker, whose financial wizardry has fascinated the Senate. He also has raised new questions about relations between the White House and Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

Johnson told a television audience Sunday night that Baker, former Senate aide who quit under fire last October, was never a protégé of his.

He hadn't seen or spoken to Baker since the resignation of the onetime Senate page boy who accumulated an estimated $2,000,000 fortune as a $19,000-a-year Senate majority secretary during and following Johnson's tenure as Senate majority leader.

Baker is under investigation by the Senate rules committee on charges of improper activity ranging from stock deals to sex. New allegations have developed following charges that an accountant's signature on Baker's tax returns was forged.

Last January, in defending a gift of a stereophonic record player, Johnson described the former Senate aide as having been "an employee of mine." Sunday night the president described Baker as "an employee of theirs"—meaning the senators.

Johnson also said the man selected as his running mate must be someone close to him, a man to whom he could disclose his greatest secrets in confidence. The vice president had to be a man considered best equipped and best trained to take over the presidency in the event of an unforeseen emergency.

Johnson coupled these prerequisites with an expression of concern about any aspirant to the vice-presidency campaigning at this stage. He said he talked to Kennedy about reports that supporters were pushing his candidacy "and I take his word that he has done nothing to encourage those efforts."

He denied he is displeased with Kennedy or that the two men are no longer on speaking terms. Kennedy has said he will resign as attorney general after the November elections, leaving open the question of what goals he intends to pursue in the future.

Turning to world affairs, Johnson pledged to give South Viet Nam the most "effective and efficient" help possible, but denied intentions of extending the war into North Viet Nam.

The program coincided with Johnson's first 100 days in office following Kennedy's assassination in Dallas last Nov. 22.

Since 1947 blood donors have given 6,750,000 bottles of blood to their fellow Canadians through the Canadian Red Cross free blood transfusion service.

U.K. Tories Split On Prices Bill

By ROD CURRIE

LONDON (CP) — It is becoming increasingly apparent that the government has got itself in a large-sized mess over the proposed bill to end resale price maintenance.

The ministers handling it obviously miscalculated both the strength of the back-bench opposition and their ability to control it.

Now there is speculation they may resort to the "guillotine" to limit opposition from their own Conservative colleagues when the bill to end price-fixing by manufacturers reaches committee stage in a week.

To some observers, the use of this parliamentary device to cut the time for discussing the bill would be a major humiliation. And it would rob the Conservatives of one of their traditional electoral assets—their image as a united party, thinking virtually with one mind on all important issues.

TORIES' DEATH WISH

Until recently it was the Labor Opposition that was dogged by squabbles and revolts within its ranks. But lately, in a mood that one Sunday paper refers to as "the Tories' death wish," the extreme right wing of the Tory party has crossed swords frequently with the majority.

So far the right-wingers have been more of a nuisance than an effective threat. They failed to stop the government's attempt to enter the common market, failed to get former Prime Minister Macmillan's resignation at the height of the "Profumo affair" and failed to get broader laws for corporal punishment.

But this time their strength is greater and even if they do not succeed they could create embarrassment, by slowing the bill's progress while time runs out before the general election that must come before November.

It is ironic that the party, in this major attempt to live up to its election posters as the progressive, modern party, should be humiliated by a minority whose views are regarded as somewhat old-fashioned.

The Labor party, meanwhile, is sitting back and letting the Conservatives bicker among themselves. Labor, which will present several amendments, presumably would be content to see the bill delayed long enough to embarrass the government but not long enough to defeat it, since Labor favors the bill in principle.

The man in the middle, as he was in the common market issue, is Edward Heath, now trade minister, who is committed to the bill and whose personal reputation will rise or fall with it.

Already 100 amendments, mostly from Conservatives, have been tabled and only two days have so far been set aside for the committee debate.

Unless the rebels give in, or the government resorts to the guillotine, Heath may fail to get it through this Parliament.

'Help Poor Nations Build Trade,' UN Asks

GENEVA (AP) — Economists at the United Nations are recommending a vast system of world trade that would ask rich countries to give preeminence to the needs of poor nations.

Under the proposed system, advanced nations would ease protectionist measures even if this appeared to be to the disadvantage of their own agricultural and industrial producers.

The recommendations are contained in a UN committee report prepared for the forthcoming world trade development conference. It will be headed by Raul Prebisch of Brazil.

The report is the basic document of the 122-nation conference opening March 23. It is expected to attract more than 100 trade and economic ministers.

The report says the general agreement on tariffs and trade disregards the special needs of the developing countries and should be replaced.

It recommends new world trade machinery immediately or in stages.

BLAME PROTECTIONISM

The report blames the protectionism of the advanced countries for the insufficient growth of the trade of the developing countries both in primary commodities and in manufactured goods. Unless drastic action is taken, it said, VANCOUVER (CP)—A high school drama teacher from North Kamloops, in league with a teenage cast, continues to dominate amateur theatre in British Columbia.

The play, in competition with four others, took four of the six major awards. Adjudicator Herbert Whittaker now goes to Calgary for the Alberta festival, and chooses between the Alberta and B.C. winners for a finalist entering the Dominion Drama Festival at Charlottetown May 18-23.
PTA-PRODUCTION
The North Kamloops play was a presentation of the community's Parent-Teacher Association, employing more than half a dozen students among the cast of 16. A story about Royal Air Force basic training, it combines comedy with a rebellious slap at the establishment.
The play was chosen best presentation and Kerr was named best director of the festival. Drew Allen's ingenious cyclorama set was called the best visual production, and Bob Morrison as an airman shattered by the system drew a popular call as best supporting player.
Michael Stephen, a numb and vacant brother in a production of The Caretaker by the Victoria Intimate Stage, was chosen by Mr. Whittaker as best actor in the festival.

INSPIRED PERFORMANCE

Bach 'Passion' Full of Delights

By AUDREY S.D. JOHNSON

This season now nearing completion—the 23rd for Victoria Symphony Orchestra—rises to an inspiring and moving climax with the performance Sunday afternoon and tonight, of the great and beautiful Bach St. Matthew Passion.

Combined with the strings and woodwinds of the orchestra are the more than 100 voices of the University of Victoria Choir, an organ, harpsichord and nine solo voices.

This impressive musical throng, under brilliant direction by Otto Werner Mueller, provided one of the undoubted highlights of the entire year for a bigger than usual audience at the Royal Theatre Sunday.

TOUR DE FORCE

When one says that this performance is a magnificent achievement, a tour de force for the Victoria scene, it is because elements are present this time that have never been there before when great choral orchestral works have been attempted.

For one thing, the tonal texture in all phases is far more beautiful than on any past occasion; far more sensitive and more superbly controlled; there is a steadiness, a vitality of rhythm, an elegance of balance and above all a level of inspiration that is new and encouraging.

With the approach of Easter, few experiences could be more spiritually moving than this re-enactment of the betrayal and crucifixion of Christ, in devout chorales and majestic choruses, in poignant arias and ensembles that weave exquisite melodies into a complex fabric of sound.

RICH QUALITY

Prepared by Boyce Gaddes, the University Chorus reveals rich quality, finely balanced and blended, excellent attack and release, impressive dynamics and sincerity of expression.

A particularly lovely effect is provided in the first chorus, where the celestial color of the Christ Church Cathedral boys' choir is added to the ensemble. Bach has used woodwinds, a few strings and harpsichord in various combinations with organ continuo to accompany much of the solo work.

Here again the balance is so effective that the listener's ear was lead smoothly below the surface into the lovely complex dimensions of tone. At the harpsichord is Capt. James Gayer and at the organ Richard Proudman.

From Montreal, Robert Peters has been brought to sing the long and demanding role of The Evangelist. The choice is an excellent one, for Mr. Peters not only has a tenor voice of noble quality but it is warm and eloquent; the kind of voice that livened by imagination and freed by perfect articulation, is a most ideal conveyor of great poetry.

Victoria bass-baritone Derek MacDermot sings the part of Jesus. He brings to it a reverence, a dedication and a genuine vocal beauty that is arresting and deeply moving.

Each of the other soloists—sopranos Margaret Abbott, Ruth Champion, Erika Kurth, contraltos June Gruber and Marjorie Sturgeon, tenor Peter Yelland and bass-baritone John Bray, leave an impression of fine vocal quality and rare expressive musicianship.

MEMORABLE

There is a memorable episode where the soprano-alto voices of Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Gruber are joined in duet with the chorus providing intermittent impassioned utterances.

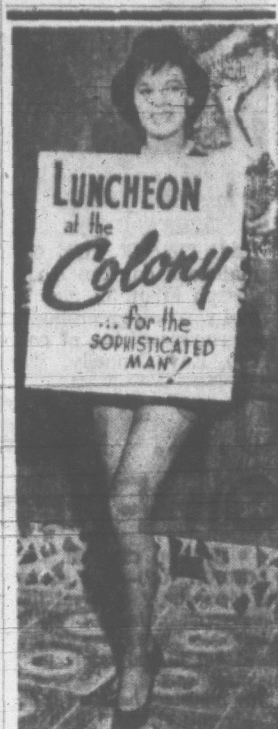

There is a breath-taking aria sung by Mrs. Kurth with strings accompanying in an exquisite muted configuration. One could go on endlessly finding fresh delights to ponder over.

To discuss this performance of the St. Matthew Passion in these terms may seem a little extreme. But one is not making comparison with electronic perfection nor even with such a performance as might be given by the Mendelssohn Choir and Toronto Symphony.

V.I. ROUNDUP

Spray Blamed For Decline In Blue Grouse

NANAIMO — Chemical spraying of forest lands could be the reason for the fast dwindling blue grouse population, Pat Flannigan told a meeting of the Nanaimo Fish and Game Club Saturday.

Game biologist Dave Hum admitted there could be a loss of wildlife by chemicals improperly used.

"Regulations are necessary to control effectively use of insecticides," he added.

He said build-up of apparently harmless chemicals over a period of time eventually become lethal.

DUNCAN — Funeral services were held at Hirst Funeral Chapel today for Colin Wallace Marrs, who was killed in accident at Skutz Falls, near Lake Cowichan, last Thursday.

He died of injuries received when his pickup truck toppled off a bridge into a creek.

Born at Hook, England, Mr. Marrs came directly to the Cowichan Valley in 1912. He was well-known as a prospector.

He served with the Canadian Scottish and Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry during the Second World War. He finished the war years in the Merchant Marine.

GANGES — An emergency 40 kilowatt power plant has been installed at Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital here.

It was financed by donations and a grant for one-third of the cost from the provincial government.

GANGES — A sum of $200 has been set aside to hire a recreation director during the summer, Mrs. D. Deacon told the annual meeting of North Salt Spring Island Recreation Commission.

Commissioners elected at the meeting were: Barney Lukas, Ivor Ginn, Lyle Brown, Mrs. Dennis Deacon, and Mrs. A. M. Brown.

Dust Flies in Sask. REGINA (CP) — Dust picked up in the Lloydminster-North Battleford area was carried into southern Saskatchewan Sunday by winds from the northwest gusting to 60 miles an hour. Visibility in the Regina area went to a low of 1 1/2 miles in the dust in mid-afternoon.

Whistle-Punks Make Comeback

Ladysmith may become the new girl watching centre of North America.

In Rome they say, a playful pinch is a compliment. In Paris, the girl who isn't ogled would throw herself in the Seine.

And now in Ladysmith, the village commission has refused to interfere with the free expression of the wolf-whistlers.

Commissioner Mrs. Kay Grouhel told the city fathers she had a complaint from a woman who drew whistles as she passed a loafers' bench outside Travellers Hotel. Mrs. Grouhel said the commission discussed the matter and decided in favor of the whistle-punks.

"They hadn't actually done any harm. And the bench is on private property. We felt we couldn't remove it," said Mrs. Grouhel today.

But she suggested whistle-punks use care. A complaint to the police might bring charges of loitering or creating a public nuisance. And when you consider the size of some of those Ladysmith loggers, whose wives could be involved, one could be whistling to the common danger.

Help Asked On Centre For Indians

PORT ALBERNI — An appeal to all service clubs and organizations in the Alberni Valley to support a Friendship House for Indians was made Saturday by Mayor Les Hammer of Port Alberni.

The mayor said a heavy influx of Indians from isolated reserves on the west coast of V.I. is creating a serious social problem.

"These people are not trained or prepared to rapidly assimilate the hectic competitive ways of an urban community," he said.

"They bring with them many social problems notably severe housing and employment situations," he added. "The latter is due to the lack of training and education."

He said a friendship centre would provide an opportunity for interested people in the community to form friendships with people of Indian origin.

It would also help Indians to overcome loneliness for family and friends, he said.

Five-Year Term Given Victorian

A Victoria man was convicted in Nanaimo Assize Court Saturday on two counts of breaking and entering and entering and theft, two counts of possessing stolen goods and one count of unlawfully setting a fire.

Robert Leon Renton Dunbar was sentenced to five years in the B.C. penitentiary by Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton of Victoria, who is presiding over the Nanaimo Assizes.

Dunbar was acquitted on two other charges of breaking and entering and theft. He defended himself throughout the five-day trial.

His convictions involved break-ins and theft from Theis Lake concession and Berry's Garage at Cobble Hill, unlawfully setting fire in Berry's Garage, and unlawful possession of

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—All over the country, men who have been a little shy about wearing glasses are coming out into the open with them... due to the popularity of President Johnson's glasses... Bill Hoiden, Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin are often seen in glasses... And we don't think this is the time to recall Joe E. Lewis' line ("I don't need glasses, I drink right out of the bottle") so we won't... The fact is that women of mature years prefer men who wear glasses... They think if they have defective vision they're less likely to notice their wrinkles and double chins... They also feel spectacles make them smarter... To put it in the Dorothy Parker manner: All girls' favorite hims are the ones in horn rims. Fearless forecasts: Peter O'Toole will grab next year's Oscar for "Becket" (stealing it away from Richard Burton)... And "The Beat Man" will join "Dr. Strangelove" and "Seven Days in May" in the controversial film sweepstakes... with much guessing who the double-dealing politicians are supposed to be.

"How come," a friend asked Irving Heller, the Bway tailor, "you gave up your Caddy and are driving a Buick?" Said HI: "I got over my inferiority complex." The closing of "The Girl Who Came to Supper" will be a $500,000 disaster partly suffered by a network... Bobby Darin's pretty cum up at a whispering campaign that he spent a lot of trade paper ads to get an Oscar nomination. Didn't spend a penny, he vows. Dinah Shore's fed up with the housewife routine and is practically signed to return to TV for old friend Producer Henry Jaffe next year. And the marriage???? Peggy Lee not only gets $17,500 a week at the American next month and suites for her entourage—but quarters for three dogs... Connie Francis' next two for Joe Pasternak: "Arrivederci, Pittsburgh" and "Pizza for Breakfast."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Peter Sellers hired a Swedish valet, so he can learn the language—his bride's a sweet Swede... Eleanor Powell, now at the Latin Quarter, is negotiating for a tour that'll include Russia... Harry James' son Timothy was named an aide to the president pro-tem of the Senate... (Harry, now at the Las Vegas Flamingo, will tour Japan soon)... Joe DiMaggio's pal, Gentleman George Solotarev, introduced Yogi Berra to pate de foie gras in Florida... Troy Donahue was here for 24 hours to close a real estate buy (in Spain)... Zachary Scott's the latest to plan a summer stock tour in "My Fair Lady"... One of Manhattan's plushiest restaurants, whose patrons arrive by limousine, had a bad night recently, and the owner had an excuse: "We'll there's a bus strike in New Jersey..." Report from Europe: Five H'wood stars turned down the role opposite ex-Queen Soraya in her first film.

Nerves Transplanted

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow Surgeon Vladimir Golovanov reported Saturday success in transplanting nerves from human corpses to persons suffering from nerve injuries. Tass news agency said Golovanov has performed 35 successful transplants. Tass said he takes the nerves from corpses which have been deep frozen.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH:

Comic Jackie Vernon admits that "I have trouble being liked. Dale Carnegie once punched me in the mouth."

WISH I'D SAID: THAT:

Women are now at a distinct disadvantage. Man has learned to travel faster than sound.—Bob Goddard.

REMEMBERED QUOTE:

"We've discovered why a dog is man's best friend. He offers no advice, never asks for money, and has no in-laws who come visiting."—A. C. Jolley, Bartow (Ga.) Herald.

EARL'S PEARLS:

B'way gag: "You know who Richard Burton is, don't you? He's Liz Taylor's future former husband." "So Floyd Patterson offered to fight Clay for nothing," says Lee Myles. "That also should be the price of admission." That's earl, brother.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

A rare television experience is now being savored by viewers from coast-to-coast. It's a four-part story series on CBC-TV's The Serial titled Cariboo Country.

The debut of the Vancouver-produced show last Thursday scored with The Education of Phyllis. It was a true bit of Canadiana about life today in B.C.'s famed Cariboo country.

The story concerned the fact that there are only nine children around Namko and 10 are needed to get a provincial government subsidy. An Indian girl is borrowed from the local reserve until the school inspector has made his call.

The girl, 10-year-old Nancy Sindy as Phyllis, gave an illuminating performance. She found expression through her school books and was strikingly appealing with her features delicately reflecting a variety of moods.

Producer-director Philip Keatley, in fact, managed to get the most out of his entire cast. Frank Crossen, particularly, parlayed his school inspector role into a thoroughly believable character study.

The programs, filmed last fall, were written by newspaperman Paul St. Pierre. He knows the Cariboo like the back of his hand.

He says of the country: "It is a measure of how casual a land is the Cariboo that no man can say precisely where it is or what its boundaries are, except that it is up on the plateau country of British Columbia. It is in truth less a geographic location than it is a condition, a state of mind."

This state of mind transmitted itself to the viewer through Paul's writings and the action of the players.

Twelve of the 18 major parts in the three stories are portrayed by professional actors, several of whom are continuing the same portrayals they originated in the 1960 series. All exterior scenes were filmed on location in B.C.'s Chilcotin area.

Keatley, producer and director of the series, has an impressive background. His documentary films Listen With Your Eyes, Word Games and Heart of the Thing, seen in the "Discovery" series of 1962, have won several national and international awards.

He refers to this series as a "fictional documentary." He feels the four scripts in the current series are "one of the important things CBC has created to do."

There's no hesitancy from this corner to say that the Cariboo Country stories of 1960 were among the better efforts of the creative teams within the network. This series, too, promises outstanding television fare.

They are also the only English network dramas produced by the CBC outside of Toronto this season.

CBC heads in Toronto should turn west more often for programs of like quality.

Latest Outlook Rosier

By JACK LEVLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. business outlook took on a rosier hue last week.

It already was good-but new estimates and reports enhanced it.

The stock market took note and advanced to a series of historic highs.

The major developments:

—A prediction that U.S. business will increase its investment in new plant and equipment by 10 per cent this year.

—A survey indicated that consumer confidence reached a seven-year peak in the last three months.

—Manufacturers expect a steady rise in sales through June.

—Retail sales in February increased one per cent over January and four per cent over a year earlier.

Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges said business capital spending was expected to hit $43,200,000,000 this year, up $4,000,000,000 from 1963. This was more than double the increase from 1962 to 1963. It will be the third consecutive year that business investment has risen.

Hodges said the recent income-tax cut was a factor in the plans of business men to boost their spending.

Business investment is considered a major indicator of the economy's course because it creates new jobs.

A University of Michigan survey indicated consumers are in a mood for spending. The study called the income-tax cut "a positive factor."

However, the report said the January survey showed consumers' plans to buy automobiles were lower than a year earlier.

The commerce department said a survey indicated that sales by manufacturers would increase $2,100,000,000 in the first half of this year.

SALES RISE

Retail sales in February rose to $18,500,000,000. A commerce department survey indicated that manufacturing and trading businesses expect sales to increase six per cent this year.

The automobile business went ahead with high production as if it hadn't heard any indication that softness might develop in sales. It turned out an estimated 164,700 passenger cars last week, up from 161,536 the previous week and 151,140 a year ago.

Assemblies for the year rose to 1,747,185 against 1,621,099 at this time last year.

Steel output ran into a minor setback a week ago for the first time in 10 weeks. Mills produced 2,312,000 tons of ingots, off about one per cent from the previous week.

However, demand for steel remained strong and industry sources expected gains in production and shipments this month and probably through April.

Lumbermen, IWA Fire Salvos

VANCOUVER (CP)—Representatives of B.C. lumber companies picked holes in IWA demands as the two groups fired preliminary salvos Friday on the eve of contract negotiations.

The union said it will ask for a 40-cent hourly increase over the basic $2.08 an hour when the contract meeting opens Monday.

The wage bill paid by employers has substantially dropped in a five-year period while production has risen to an all-time high, the union said, claiming the work force has decreased 12 per cent.

The IWA said this was one factor that resulted in "astronomical profits of the employers" which the union estimates at a gross of more than $70,000,000 for 1963.

"Our proposed wage increase is not more than 15 per cent of these profits,"

John Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations, which represents the companies, termed the union's wage demand "incredibly high."

"A very great part of recent extra earnings of some companies... comes from the undependable source of a temporary premium on the U.S. dollar," he said. "Exchange rates fluctuate and British Columbia could lose today's advantage almost overnight."

Profits Down

CALGARY (CP)—Royalty Oil Co. Ltd. had net earnings of $2,653,467 in 1963, down $35,487 from the previous year.

The company's annual report said Royalty net crude oil and condensate production amounted to 1,637,726 barrels and gas production to 13,444,840 cubic feet.

Sales of refined products to all customers totalled 129,300,000 gallons, with gasoline heating oil and diesel fuel sales through Royalty outlets increased by 7 per cent.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Copper Price Increase Will Aid Mines in B.C.

By GORDON BELL

Times Business Editor

The break-through in the long-standing 31-cent-a-pound (U.S.) copper price, initiated by the African producers and followed up by Anaconda, Copper and American Smelting and Refining, will add enormously to the profitability of producing B.C. copper properties and could spur the rapid development of properties not yet in operation.

The significant thing to be watched in connection with the copper price rise will be the aluminum market, where a cent-a-pound price increase in the world market was pushed through by Aluminum Ltd. a week ago. It was this boost, as much as the continuing upward pressure on copper prices, that released the African producers from their long-standing pledge to hold the line on the red metal.

Copper and aluminum are highly competitive in many applications, particularly in the electrical conductor field, and when one metal gains a price advantage over the other users tend to switch over. The big copper producers in Africa, and to a lesser extent in Chile, have feared that a boost in copper prices before the aluminum producers made a move would only result in a loss of markets.

There is no general agreement, apparently, among metals market experts, as to whether the aluminum producers can hold their price rise. Paradoxically, at the same time the increase was announced, there were a number of price wars going on in various parts of the U.S. in fabricated aluminum, particularly in the siding field. There is also no shortage of aluminum to justify the price increase and the possibility that foreign producers will not go along must be kept in mind.

The point is that if the aluminum increase cannot be sustained it is unlikely that the copper increase will be either.

Just how difficult the aluminum business has been was outlined in the annual report of Aluminum Ltd. which revealed that net income for 1963 declined to $32,700,000 from $37,800,000 the previous year. This was despite an increase in sales and operating revenues to $670,000,000.

TERRACE (CP)—Columbia Cellulose Ltd. is willing to replace its tree farm licence application in northern B.C., company president Paul M. Marshall has announced.

It would do this in order to compete for pulp mill wood supplies with MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd., proposing a mill for Kitimat.

Columbia's existing application would supply two-thirds of the wood required for its Prince Rupert mill. The application by MacMillan, Bloedel would supply less than 40 per cent of the Kitimat mill's requirement.

Asked whether Columbia would be prepared to proceed with only 40 per cent of its wood requirement secured by a tree farm licence and compete for the remainder on an open market, Mr. Marshall said: "Yes."

Sawlogs would be released to private operators.

Mr. Marshall said he feels there is enough capacity to justify building both mills, adding that a tree farm licence is only a feasible method of arranging necessary financial backing.

000,000 in 1963 from 1962 to $559,000,000.

Subsidiary Aluminum Co. of Canada had net income of $21,900,000, down $5,200,000 from 1962, despite an increase in sales and revenues of $48,700,000 to a record $415,300,000.

While the outlook for Aluminum will be brighter this year if the cent-a-pound increase is held, it must still be remembered that two years ago the metal was selling at a cent higher than the present price and three years ago at 3 cents higher than present. Also to be considered is the increase in world production capacity of aluminum.

Annual report of Trans-Mountain Oil Pipe Line shows that despite the high level of business activity in B.C. last year, Vancouver oil refineries were less active than in 1962.

As a result of this, as well as the loss of revenues caused by introduction of B.C. oil from the Western Pacific Products and Crude Oil Pipe Line for the relatively short Kamloops-Vancouver haul, earnings for the year were down by 12.1 per cent.

The earnings for the year were $7,020,992 or 93.3 cents a share compared with $7,961,918 or $1.06 a share in 1962.

The picture is somewhat brighter for the first quarter of this year despite a lower throughput of B.C. crude which averaged 28,739 barrels daily during 1963 and is estimated at about 25,000 barrels daily at the present time.

Increased deliveries to the U.S. have boosted throughput for the first quarter this year to 221,000 barrels daily, an increase of about 10,000 barrels over the first quarter last year.

BANK CERTIFICATES SOLD OUT IN RUSH

TORONTO (CP)—Trustee subscription certificates of the proposed Bank of Western Canada were sold out quickly after being offered this morning, a securities analyst with one of the five investment houses acting as agents for the stock said today.

A total of 430,000 certificates at $15 each went on sale today in Western Canada and by mid-morning were quoted at $16.25 bid and $16.75 asked. Of the total, 230,000 were placed privately and 200,000 were sold to the public, all of it in Western Canada.

James E. Coyne, former governor of the Bank of Canada and one of the new bank's main backers, said he anticipated sales of the shares would go well, "judging from the number of inquiries we've had about the stock."

Industrial Trophy Awarded McMahon

CALGARY (CP)—Frank McMahon of Calgary Friday received the 1963 Canadian industrial development trophy presented annually by the provincial governments trade and industry council.

Previous recipients of the national award, now entering its eighth year, include the late C. D. Howe, industrialist and Liberal trade minister. The honor is bestowed on Canadian citizens who have made a significant contribution to development of Canada in the public interest.

The award was presented by Alberta Industry Minister Russell Patrick during a Calgary chamber of Commerce dinner at which the guest speaker was Dr. J. J. Deutsch of Ottawa, chairman of the Economic Council of Canada.

Dr. Deutsch stressed the importance of education and visionary individuals in the development of natural resources and national growth.

NATIVE OF B.C.

Mr. McMahon, 62, a native of Moyie, B.C., was educated in Calgary and attended Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash. Starting out as an oil driller, he turned operator and brought in his first well in the pioneer Turner Valley oil field in Alberta in 1938. The following year he established Pacific Petroleum Limited, now one of Canada's largest integrated petroleum companies.

Mr. McMahon resigned as president of Pacific Petroleum in 1962 to become chairman of Westcoast Transmission Company of Vancouver, a firm he founded in 1949, and which operates a major natural gas pipeline in British Columbia.

Arthur Mayse

Through the magic of three fat, leather-bound volumes, it was my luck last weekend to meet an angler who in his own lifetime, became a legend among Vancouver Island sport fishermen.

His name was Noel Money. Brigadier-General Noel Money, CMG, DSO, of Qualicum, and his catches ranged from searun cutthroat trout through steelhead and salmon to basking sharks. As a young subaltern in 1890, he left the trout streams of England and the Scottish lochs for Kipling's India. He was wounded in South Africa, and a year later, rode with Allenby to Jerusalem.

Between wars, and in the midst of them when the chance offered, he hunted and fished.

Most of all, he fished.

When I was a boy, I saw him a time or two at the mouth of Nile Creek or in Big Qualicum River estuary, a tall, spare, absorbed figure wading deep in the flow. He hooked big searun cutthroat trout where others caught only steelhead, played them neatly and netted them skillfully, then tramped off in his high waders to a car which for many years carried British Columbia licence plate No. 1.

"The General," up-island anglers called him. They kept handy in their boxes the trout fly which bears his name. He pioneered fly fishing for steelhead in the Stamp and Ash Rivers, and found time to operate a golf course and a famed resort hotel.

Also, from August 12, 1881, in England, to December 16, 1940, at Qualicum, Brig.-Gen. Noel Money kept a record of his days afield.

It is also the record of such a life as won't be lived again. The times have changed; the Royal Irish Fusiliers no longer war with the Pathans on the Northwest Frontier and ride breakbone courses at polo and pigsticking betweenwiles.

"Hooked my first salmon," Noel Money noted as a boy of 19 in April, 1886. "The line broke."

And on October 7, 1940: "A salmon broke me."

But The General, boy and man, didn't breach much gear.

"May 22, 1890: Ten days' leave to Chausa, 34 miles from Delhi. Twenty-three pig, in seven days, and I was lucky enough to kill 15 of them."

Even to skin the surface of a chronicle so complete would take more space by far than we have here. I can only touch on a very few of its highlights.

The fish and game record, in black ink and sometimes red, occupies the lower half of each page.

North of Jerusalem, on February 28, 1917, we learn that a certain Col. Lawrence shot a woodcock.

Again, on September 9, 1933, The General attended the wedding of his son, Gordon, at Victoria. That was a red letter entry, as was the terse note which follows:

"Interfered with my fishing."

But even more than the written jottings, the photographs, sketches, and souvenirs that top each page portray The General's life.

There are early pictures of young ladies sedately riding side saddle, and blue-jean girls of a later generation astride their ponies. Attached to one page-top is military scrip issued to civilians in a besieged and hungry Mafeking. Others boast such items as the tail of a boar speared by The General in his India days; beautifully-tied English salmon flies; and the menu for a 1903 wedding breakfast.

A newspaper clipping dated October 5, 1939, records the death of Maud Money, who shared that wedding breakfast with a captain home from war.

The last item in the last journal was set down on December 16, 1940, a day on which The General caught no steelhead. He died the following May at the age of 72, a distinguished Vancouver Islander and a rare fine angler.

Three In Court For Driving While Impaired

Three impaired drivers appeared in court today and one, a woman, was sentenced to 20 days in jail. The other two were remanded to March 24 for sentence because they said they needed their licences for business.

Yvette Simeney, 2835 Rita Road, was picked up on Fisgard Street Feb. 1 after police saw her car weave across the centre line. She registered 26 per cent blood alcohol content when tested by a Breathalyzer, court was told.

Evidence showed she was convicted of impaired driving in 1962 and Magistrate William Ostler imposed the 20-day sentence despite a plea by her defence counsel, Lloyd McKenzie, for the minimum 14-day sentence to be imposed.

Dimas Martins, 1231 Balmoral, was arrested after he hit the rear of a car at Discovery while driving along Douglas Saturday night.

Ralph Brown, 645 Dunedin, was also picked up on Douglas Saturday evening after he too ran into the rear of another vehicle.

Magistrate Ostler decided to obtain a probation report before deciding whether to suspend their licences.

Young City Artist Ready To Send JFK Portraits

A young Victoria artist is painting a series of oil portraits of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and the late President Kennedy from photographs provided by Mrs. Kennedy.

Hawaiian-born Albert Sterling, 26, of 1407 Fort Street, is now working on the portraits. He said he wrote to the White House asking for the photographs just prior to the president's assassination.

"I received a reply from Mrs. Kennedy's secretary saying she wished to have the paintings made. Enclosed was a selection of individual photos of the president and Mrs. Kennedy, and one of them together."

SEND SOON

From these Mr. Sterling has already painted two portraits in dark paint which he will send to Mrs. Kennedy soon.

Now he is starting work on three colored portraits measuring 4½ by 6 feet.

"I shall show these to Mrs. Kennedy when I go to Washington in July and ask her permission to show them at an exhibition to be staged by the International Artists' Association in New York."

"I shall make one portrait of late president, one of Mrs. Kennedy and one of Mrs. Kennedy and her brother-in-law, Robert Kennedy."

HERE SINCE 1957

Mr. Sterling said he was born in Honolulu and started painting about 10 years ago. He came to Victoria in 1957 and has now applied for Canadian citizenship.

He drew a pencil sketch of Princess Margaret during her visit here in July, 1958, and presented it to her personally at the Empress Hotel.

Patience Runs Out With Garbage Dump

Angry ratepayers today will try to clamp the lid on Greater Victoria's vast, rat-infested communal garbage can.

A committee of Prospect Lake Community Association was to meet today to explore means of halting the dumping of garbage on a huge littered tract at the end of Hartland Road.

"Delivery has got to stop bang on," association president G. A. C. Denford, 163 Goward, said.

"The people's patience is at an end. They can't stand these deplorable conditions any longer."

Mr. Denford said complaint of the dump, used by Victoria, Saanich, Central Saanich and Sidney, was made last May 22 to Metropolitan Board of Health.

BAD SITUATION

It was agreed then the situation was bad, he said.

"But the rats and unsanitary conditions haven't changed in 10 months," Mr. Denford added.

The operation is run by Victoria Disposal Co. Ltd., Box 399, New Westminster, which has no known local direction.

"We can't find out who was responsible for the original agreement. I think it was supposed to be only temporary."

"But it hasn't been looked after or run properly and as a result we have hundreds of seagulls, rats, and pollution."

INTO LAKE

Mr. Denford said residents can prove the runoff is draining into Killarney Lake, once a "beautiful, clear body, now dirty and refuse-littered."

This drains into Prospect Lake, one of the area's best warm-water recreational spots. "The coliform count (bacteria) is quite high in this creek, the highest in the district," Mr. Denford said referring to the connection with Killarney Lake. "He said the committee prob-

Downtown Area At 'Crossroads'

Still Time To Tidy Up Says Mayor

In a straightforward speech to more than 100 business representatives today, Mayor R. B. Wilson said rejuvenation of the downtown area depends on merchants and property owners in the final analysis.

The meeting in the Empress Hotel was arranged by City Hall to start its campaign aimed at persuading downtown businessmen to improve their properties, particularly by participating in a co-ordinated paintup program.

"I do not believe it would be an understatement to say that downtown Victoria is at the crossroads," the mayor's prepared speech warned.

"If landlords and tenants are unwilling to improve the appearance of their buildings and if we do not make downtown an attractive place to visit and to shop, then it is almost certain that new and more attractive areas will develop."

HIGHER COST

This would force property values in the commercial core to drop and postpone for many years any substantial comeback, and then only at much higher cost, Mayor Wilson said.

"There is still time if we stir ourselves to tidy up, paint up and pretty up an area that has tremendous attraction and appeal," he declared drawing attention to some "fine examples" of pleasing painting projects in recent months.

Major Wilson said the "character" built into many downtown buildings when erected years ago was an advantage in dressing up the area.

MORE ATTRACTIVE

"We can, with modest sums of money, bring back the appearance of these buildings. In fact, with the use of modern colors and a little imagination, they can become even more attractive than when they were new."

He said solid support of the business community for the city's program of suggesting harmonious color combinations for whole city blocks—starting this year in the Government Street tourist area—would give the city "something quite unique."

DRAW OUTSIDERS

"We can create an atmosphere that, through its attractiveness, will draw not only the tourists to us but also the retail shoppers from the surrounding districts," the mayor said.

The audience included representatives of the Victoria Real Estate Board, Chamber of Commerce, Downtown Businessmen's Association and other business groups as well as individual property owners.

Lawyer Gets Coroner Post

Lawyer E. D. St. Jorre de St. Jorre has been appointed Victoria coroner.

He will take over from Dr. John H. Moore, who retires on April 16.

A cabinet order today says Dr. Moore is retiring because he has reached the age of 75.

Mr. St. Jorre, who is currently Dr. Moore's deputy, was federal returning officer for Victoria in the last general election.

Navy Stages Recall Exercise

The 12 officers and 190 crew members of Esquimalt-based frigate HMCS Stettler were ordered aboard ship in a routine recall test late Sunday evening.

The Stettler is now on training exercises in the Strait of Juan de Fuca and is due back Tuesday afternoon.

OFFICIAL VISITS HERE

Israel Ready Soon To Irrigate South

Barring action by surrounding Arab states, Israel expects to begin pumping Jordan River waters to its arid southern region sometime this year.

Possible action, according to Shmuel Bendor, is diversion of the Jordan's two northern sources, which would seriously stem the flow into Israel.

Mr. Bendor is deputy director-general in the Israeli prime minister's department. He will speak at Temple Emanuel at 8 p.m.

He is visiting Victoria today on a Canada-wide tour addressing universities and Jewish communities.

THIRD SOURCE

If the diversion is carried out, Mr. Bendor said in an interview, it would leave Israel with the third source, the Dan.

"It would have no economic purpose for the Arab states," he said. "It would only be to spite Israel."

Such action on the two northern sources would be regarded by Israel as a hostile act, he said.

BORN IN IRELAND

Mr. Bendor, 54, was born in Ireland and has been in Israel (formerly Palestine) since 1932.

He lives in the divided city of Jerusalem, just 200 metres from the frontier.

"I don't feel as though I'm living in a divided city," he said. "There is alertness, but no fear."

"If East-West relations were to become more normal ... and there was not the Great Power struggle in the Middle East, it would affect positively relations between the Arab states and Israel."

COLD WAR

Weapons shipped by the Eastern bloc to Arab states are not part of Arab-Israeli relations, he said, but part of the cold war.

"All countries in the area are devoting too much money to armaments."

Lebanon to the north, he said, is always very quiet. Jordan "realizes its existence depends on the existence of Israel."

"Our main trouble is Syria, perpetually in a state of turmoil."

Magistrate 'Wonders' About Youths

Magistrate William Ostler wondered aloud if two youths who appeared in Saanich court today were "mentally deficient."

Johannes Minten, 19, of 1131 Palmer, and William Warren, 18, of 3973 Saanich Road, pleaded guilty to causing a common nuisance.

Evidence by Corporal Bob Peterson showed they released the brakes on a car parked at Cedar Hill Cross Road and Quadra late Sunday night and trundled it into some bushes.

Then they went to Greenridge Crescent and Tulsa, uprooted some cement blocks and put them in the middle of the road at the crest of a hill.

BACK AGAIN

The obstructions were again removed by a passing motorist and the two accused again put them back on the road, this time adding a car that they moved from a service station lot.

Cpl. Peterson said Warren was caught at the scene and after talking to police for an hour he admitted the offence.

Asked the magistrate: "You're not mentally deficient, are you?" One youth said he wasn't and the other said he didn't think so.

Both were remanded to Thursday for a probation report and sentence.

SHMUEL BENDOR

... alertness, no fear

"It's tempting for them to take potshots."

Anti-Semitism showing up in a country such as Canada should be feared — by Canadians, he said.

"You should be worried for your own sake. It's a disease." Mr. Bendor attributes it to wrong teaching, and that Jews were held responsible for killing Jesus.

"All Jews are blamed for something that happened so long ago," he said.

Rights to Jury Duty Demanded for Women

TORONTO (CP)—Until jury duty for women is compulsory in Ontario, women will feel like second-class citizens, a group of women's organizations has told Premier John Robarts.

A brief asking that the law be changed has been submitted by the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Ontario.

Pointed Toes Show Way To Awareness

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian women are adopting new shoe styles much faster than they did before the advent of the pointed toe, says Thomas Wallace, Montreal shoe manufacturer.

At a press luncheon here he predicted women will keep the awareness of shoe fashions which grew on them during the five-year reign of the pointed toe.

Even though shoes have begun to shorten markedly and taper to a gentler fingertip point, Mr. Wallace says women will never consent to a return of the baby doll style because it was ugly. Toes may get shorter and rounder, but if they flatten and broaden as the baby dolls did, they will have to be thickened, which was what made the style ugly. "The foot has to have someplace to go," he says.

He defines style as the regional adaptation of trend-setting fashion designs, usually from Europe.

'BARE LOOK'

This year the bare look is the style, adapted from toe-revealing Paris fashion. Mr. Wallace considers this a natural extension of the current Paris trend for showing as much female as possible.

With the open heel, toe-cleavage style has become a new interest in leathers.

Patients head the list, and Mr. Wallace says an Italian development is making it possible to produce patients that will not crack. Colored and iridescent patients are growing in popularity.

He maintains Canadian women are spoiled in their choice of shoe sizes. They have eight widths to choose from in most size ranges. In Europe, he says, where fashions originate and leathers are produced, the store which carries double or triple A's in its stock is so proud of the unusual fact, it emphasizes it in advertisements.

Ski Nursery

ST. SAUVEUR, Que. (CP)—Housewives enjoy the hills of this Laurentian ski resort while their children play under supervision in a former two-room schoolhouse, where the only day nursery in the Laurentians operates. On weekends, the nursery is filled with children left by parents who go off to ski together.

Ontario on behalf of clubs representing 70,000 women.

Under clause 4 of the Ontario Jurors Act a woman may be exempted from jury duty simply by signing a statement reading: "I, being a woman, claim exemption from jury service for one year."

"The assumption is that the vast majority of women between the ages of 21 and 70, the age group eligible for jury duty, have small children and can't leave them," said Margaret Hyndman of the Zonta Clubs of Ontario.

INEQUALITIES

"Most people are in favor of our jury system and I don't think it can be said that a cross-section of the community is on a jury if there are no women on it."

Miss Hyndman, a corporation lawyer, added that when women are not required to meet the full obligations of citizenship they feel like second-class citizens. And inequality was reflected in pay standards and unequal opportunities for promotion.

Margaret Ashdown of Toronto, Ontario Business and Professional Women's Clubs president, said the group has been submitting briefs to the government on the subject since 1957. This year they asked members to write to the legislature members at the time the brief was presented.

Mrs. Leonard Trivers of Thessalon, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, said her organization also favors the change.

Cawdell-Eveleigh Vows Heard

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Cawdell travelled from Mission City, B.C., to attend the marriage of their son AB Kenneth Alfred Cawdell, RCN, and Irene Jean Eveleigh, Saturday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Eveleigh, 3755 Seaton Street. Plum blossoms, pink carnations and fern decorated St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for the double-ring ceremony at which Rev. Charles Scott officiated. Soloist, Miss Sue Watson, sang "O Perfect Love" during signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white satin brocade gown. The belted skirt was accented with two bows at waistline and featured a back panel which extended into a train. The bodice was styled with scooped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The sleeves were highlighted with flared edges and godet insets. Her three-tier, shoulder-length net veil misted from a crown of orange blossoms and pearl sequins. Only jewelry was culture pearl necklace and earrings, gift of the groom. Red roses and white freesia were in her cascade bouquet.

Silk organza gowns styled with bouffant skirts and enhanced with toning pearls were worn by her attendants. Shell pink was choice of maid of honor, Miss Joy Sims, and seafaro green was worn by bridesmaids, the Misses Diane Eveleigh and Marie McPherson. All wore matching whimsies made by Miss Sims and carried bouquets of pink carnations and seafaro green ribbon.

Best man was Pte. Don Barclay and ushers were ACI Rick Hill and LAC Mel Waddele.

RECEPTION

James McPherson proposed the toast at a reception which followed in the Tully-Ho banquet hall. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake which was made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. W. Sims. The cake was topped with a vase of pink roses and surrounded by pink roses and fern.

The couple will spend their honeymoon here before travelling to Cornwallis, N.S., where they will make their home.

The bride's going-away outfit was a dark blue two-piece wool suit with brown accessories, matching whimsie and white carnation corsage.

'SILLY CLOT' MUST HUMOR MOODY WIFE

LONDON (UPI)—A court here refused Friday to grant Roger T. Elvy a legal separation, saying he should humor his wife when she calls him names and slaps him around instead of resenting her behavior.

"Wives are creatures of mood," said Divorce Judge Samuel R. Edgedale. "If they get into a mood it is up to the husband to get them out of it... tell them they're wonderful and make a fuss over them."

Edgedale rejected Elvy's argument that it was "inexcusable conduct" for his wife to call him a "silly clot" or even less endearing names and to hit him on the arm, abdomen or back.

Close Decision

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP)—Twin sisters from nearby Doon decided between them who would apply for a University of Waterloo scholarship for a year's French-language study at the University of Strasbourg, in France. Edith Buerkle sent for the forms, Gerhild filled them out and won the scholarship. Dr. Frances Montgomery, head of Waterloo's French department, said both were so close she didn't know which one to select. Both want to be high school teachers.

DEAR ABBY...

Needs Help, Now!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son is now 14 years old. My husband and I were divorced three years ago. The law officer told me at that time that when the boy reached the age of 13 he could choose which parent he wanted to live with. Well, he chose his father, and the officials told me that I couldn't even see the boy unless he wanted to come and see me. This week he came to my house. His shoes were worn out, his clothes were a mess, and he looked as though he hadn't had a haircut in six months. He had money in his pocket, though. I always kept him looking nice, Abby. What kind of law do we have that let's a 14-year-old boy go around looking like a bum? Or is there any such law? I think I have been tricked.

A BUM'S MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER: Your husband apparently is not looking after the boy properly. Talk this over with a lawyer, or go to the local Legal Aid Society and find out what can be done in a case like this.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to the bride who neglected to acknowledge her wedding gifts: We have the same situation in our family. Our granddaughter was married last summer. We sent her a costly wedding gift, which she has yet to acknowledge. A thank-you note need not be over 20 words, and I am just ornery enough to see to it that the omission of those 20 words will cost that little brat exactly one thousand clams per word. That ought to flatten a few high hair-dos.

GRANDPA THE KNIFE.

WONDERING.

DEAR WONDERING: Not much. And it's good to remember that two is company.

Parents and Daughter Wed By Same Clergyman

Rev. T. H. McAllister and Rev. S. J. Parsons officiated at the marriage of Virginia Ann Lane and Victor Edward Foster, Saturday evening.

Rev. McAllister also had heard marriage vows exchanged between the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Malcolm Lane, 26 years ago, and officiated at the christening of the bride.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Douglas Foster, of Port Alberni.

Spring blossoms decorated Centennial United Church for the ceremony. Soloist, June Bolton, sang "Because" during signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length brocade gown that she made herself. The gown was patterned with lily of the valley and featured a scalloped neckline, lily point sleeves and slight train. Her fine net veil misted to shoulder-length from a tiara of rhinestones and aurora borealis. Only jewelry was culture pearl necklace and earrings, gift of the groom. Red carnations were in her bouquet.

Identical gowns of red crystal charm with shoes in tone and red pillbox headpieces, trimmed with white veiling, were choice of maid of honor, Miss Mavis Veness, cousin of the bride, and bridesmaids, the Misses Barbara Foster, sister of the groom, and Pamela Lane, the bride's sister. All carried bouquets of white carnations.

The bride's petite cousin, Leanna Bissett, and Barbara Clare, Portland, Ore., were flower girls in white nylon frocks with red sashes. They wore red bandeaus wreathed with white flowers and carried bouquets of red carnations.

Bert Morrey was best man and guests were ushered to their pews by Frank Veness, cousin of the bride, and Donald Fraser, brother of the groom.

Dave Wright, godfather of the bride, proposed the toast at a reception which followed in St. Martin-in-the-Fields Church Hall. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake decorated in pink and white and topped with pink bells. Spring flowers completed the decor.

For travelling on a honeymoon trip to Los Angeles and San Francisco, the bride donned a pink fitted suit, toning hat and black accessories. A white carnation corsage completed the ensemble.

Many guests came from Portland, Powell River, Ucluelet, Vancouver and Port Alberni for the ceremony.

U.K. Soldiers 'Roughed Up' in Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Five British soldiers sent to Cyprus to keep the peace were manhandled at gunpoint by Greek Cypriot police tonight at Nicosia's Famagusta Gate.

A British spokesman said the British soldiers in uniform were stopped, forced out of a taxi at gunpoint, roughed up and searched but that there were no casualties.

Negligent Driver Jailed Four Years

VANCOUVER (CP)—A young man convicted of criminal negligence in a traffic death today was jailed for four years and barred from driving for eight years.

Edward Lawrence Doma, 25, of Chilliwack, B.C., was found guilty last week in assize court after Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan said he did everything wrong that he could have the day 20-year-old John Wilson was killed.

Creditists Seek to Censure Deputy

OTTAWA (CP)—Gilles Grogan, Creditiste House leader, gave notice in the Commons today of a motion of censure against Deputy Speaker Lucien Lamoureux.

The motion will come up for debate Wednesday. Mr. Grogan, MP for Lapointe, charged that Mr. Lamoureux (L—Stormont) lost the confidence of the Commons by violating the rules during an emergency debate on Cyprus Friday night.

CYPRUS PEACE FORCE

Canada Ready
For Long StayBy ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—The Canadian government is prepared to leave its peace-keeping force in Cyprus for considerably longer than the three-month period set by the United Nations.

Hopes that the quarrels between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots will be settled in the three-month period are not too high in Canadian government circles.

There is, in fact, concern that the Canadian and other UN peace force contingents on the Mediterranean island might be asked to leave after three months, with nothing having been accomplished in settling the bitter differences between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

SEEK MEDIATOR

In the meantime, the Canadian government will vigorously press through diplomatic and United Nations channels to get speedy appointment of a UN mediator so he can get started on the job of trying to reach a settlement.

But officials here are not too optimistic that the task can be accomplished by June—when the peace force operation's term is up.

The most optimistic target date for a settlement is by early fall. It is felt negotiations on a settlement will be speeded by the approach at that time of the normal meeting of the UN General Assembly, with the parties involved expected to be anxious to be able to tell the UN the situation is under control.

FOR DURATION

It also was learned here that the Canadian government is opening a small diplomatic mission in Nicosia "for the duration."

Canada's ambassador to Israel already is accredited to Cyprus, but operates out of Tel Aviv. The purpose of the mission is to reach a settlement.

Van Doos Land
In Quiet Cyprus

Times News Service

NICOSIA — An additional 223 Canadian troops were due in Cyprus tonight for the United Nations peace force. The island itself was unusually quiet.

Although tension between Greek and Turkish Cypriots remained high, no shooting was reported Sunday. Arrival of the Canadian troops was considered to have had a calming effect. Five more RCAF transport planes were due in Nicosia today. Members of the Royal 22nd Regiment boarded the planes Sunday at Quebec.

Additional troops were to depart by air today from Quebec and Halifax. The Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure was being loaded at Halifax for departure Wednesday with 100 soldiers and 60 vehicles.

Canadian officials hope to have the entire Canadian contingent of 1,150 men in Cyprus by March 24. An advance party of 106 officers and men came in three planes during the week-end.

Finland, Sweden and Ireland also have promised troops for the international army, but there was no word here when any would arrive. Secretary-General U Thant hopes to create a UN police force of 7,000 men, including 3,500 members of the present British peace-keeping contingent on Cyprus.

Ireland's Premier Sean Lemass told reporters upon arrival in London Sunday for a trade show that there was a flood of volunteers for his country's pledged contingent of 500 men.

Although the Greek-Cypriot population has denounced Britain for its efforts to enforce a truce on the island, their government hailed the arrival of the Canadians. In an airport welcome, Interior Minister

Hospitals
For Vets
Go 'Local'

Ottawa moved today to place veterans' hospitals under control and operation of community authorities.

Veterans' Affairs Minister Roger Teillet announced in the Commons that veterans' hospitals will become community hospitals. The veterans' affairs department will purchase the services it requires from the community-level authorities and now is ready for general negotiations.

Negotiations already have been going on between Ottawa and Manitoba and Alberta. It was not immediately known how soon similar negotiations would start in other areas, such as Victoria.

CONDITIONS SET

The minister made it clear however that certain conditions must be met where transfer of control takes place.

The community institution must provide immediate accommodation for treatment of service-connected disabilities and treatment standards must not decrease.

Other classes of veterans (those who require treatment or domiciliary care or out-patient care for ailments not connected with their service) must also be cared for in their own communities.

And arrangements must be made for continued employment of professional and other staff of present veterans' hospitals.

The minister stated that there is no change in the policy of affording veterans the best of medical service although some change in method may occur.

The proposed step was recommended last year by the Glassco Royal Commission enquiring into federal government operations. It was immediately opposed by the Royal Canadian Legion.

The minister explained that veterans' hospitals were originally designed to rehabilitate a

British Troops
Stay On Island

LONDON (Reuters)—No plans have been made for the immediate withdrawal of any British troops in Cyprus, a well-informed source said here Sunday.

The source said Britain was likely to provide some 3,500 troops for the United Nations peace-keeping bases in Cyprus.

Finland, Sweden and Ireland also have promised troops for the international army, but there was no word here when any would arrive.

SEARCH STARTS FOR TRAIN ROBBERY LOOT

Three Die in U.K. Storms

LONDON (AP)—Gales and blizzards today left Britain with wild North Derbyshire moors. At least three dead—and set off a search for loot from the great train robbery.

Other victims were a Lancashire man who died in a snowdrift and a yachtsman whose dinghy capsized on the south coast.

Widespread floods covered farmlands in southern England.

POSSIBLE mediator in Cyprus dispute is Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada. Now Canada's permanent representative at the Geneva disarmament negotiations, Burns has previous UN peace-keeping experience in UN's Middle East force. Also being considered for post is Roltz Bennett, a member of the UN secretariat.

De Gaulle in Mexico
Bidding for Prestige

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President de Gaulle arrived in Mexico City today, launching his campaign to win prestige for France in Latin America. A 21-gun salute greeted him at the international airport.

President Adolfo Lopez Mateos welcomed the 73-year-old French leader in a warm sun and a slight breeze that ruffled scores of French and Mexican flags around the airport.

De Gaulle will spend four days in Mexico in an effort to boost French prestige and trade as a prelude to visits to Argentina, Brazil, Peru and Uruguay.

He is the first French president to visit Latin America.

TEXAS TAKES

(See story Page 3)

IRVING, Tex. (UPI)—Five citizens of Irving, a Dallas suburb, heard Melvin Belli say he wanted to go to a "small town in Russia where there is some justice" and want to help him out.

Headed by Gideon W. Milam, the citizens banded together to collect money for a one-way plane ticket to Moscow for Jack Ruby's lawyer.

The five signed a petition "to help Melvin Belli get to his small town in Russia on the first available and fastest transportation."

Milam reported the group had raised $135 of the necessary $520.40 fare.

The Walton lifeboat took off the honeymooners and the six others in the crew. Later the Merak was refloated and was towed into the Thames.

The gold rush started along 20 miles of Kent beaches between Margate and Dover, where the gales washed up wreckage from the yacht Christine, mysterious element in Britain's great train robbery.

The Christine sank in the Thames estuary in January while under charter to three men who vanished with her.

The yacht's owner, service station manager Edward Anderson, 35, has told police he believes she carried three bags containing $1,000,000 ($3,000,000) of the train robbery loot.

Russians Let U.S. Doctor
Visit Airman

BERLIN (UPI)—The Russians said today they are holding three American airmen who were shot down over East Germany and said one of them is in a Red Army hospital.

U.S. Army spokesmen said the Russians said they will allow an American military doctor to visit the wounded airman.

The doctor is now on his way to the Red Army hospital at Magdeburg, East Germany, the spokesmen said.

The Russians said the wounded man's injuries are "not serious," the spokesmen said.

However the Soviets "refused to give any information on the other two fliers," army spokesmen said.

It was the first Russian word on the three airmen whom they accuse of manning a "spy plane." A Soviet fighter shot down their RB66 jet reconnaissance bomber last Tuesday.

Troops Make Rescue Try

LIMA (Reuters)—Members of a survey party surrounded by hostile Indians in the East Peru jungle for five days today sent out a radio appeal saying "they want to exterminate us one by one."

"They are firing every five minutes," the appeal said.

"Do something please."

The message, picked up in Iquitos and reported here, said some members of the party were "on the edge of madness" due to heat and rain and "thousands of Indians screaming like animals in the jungle."

According to the report, the Indians were tightening the circle around the party, who were entrenched on a hill.

The Peruvian air force planned to send a helicopter in attempt to rescue members of the survey party from the hilltop near the Galvez River, 50 miles from Requena.

Reports reaching here said army troops sent out from Requena Friday through the jungle still had not reached the trapped survey party.

Food and medical supplies have been airdropped to the survey party and air force jets have strafed the surrounding jungle in hope of dispersing the Indians.

A Peruvian gunboat tried to reach the trapped men by river.

Indian casualties in the fight were officially put at more than 50.

A report from Iquitos in eastern Peru said the survey party had lost two killed and four wounded since it was attacked by the Indians Wednesday.

The Indians were armed with bows, arrows and rifles. The survey party consisted of 30 civilians and 10 soldiers when it set out.

GORDON AGAIN

Federal Budget
Tonight

OTTAWA (UPI)—Finance Minister Walter Gordon, who almost brought down the Liberal government last June with his first budget, prepared today to deliver a second designed to restore the country's confidence in him and the administration.

Gordon was to enter the Commons about 8 p.m. (5 p.m. PST) before crowded government and opposition benches and a jammed public gallery to tell his plans to raise revenue to meet the coming fiscal year's expected record federal spending program.

He is expected to reach the section on taxes and tariffs in about half an hour. The program, coupled with this year's fiscal year's $685 million deficit, left him little opportunity to win friends. Most observers said he could not bring in any major tax cuts while attempting to reduce the deficit.

But Gordon was expected to stay away from any radical revenue-raising tax measures or moves against foreign investors, that brought the business community and opposition parties down on his neck last year.

Although major tax cuts were ruled out by most financial experts, there was speculation that the finance minister would offer altered, or new, incentives to depressed areas and change the proposed 20 per cent withholding tax on foreign-owned Canadian subsidiaries lacking 25 per cent Canadian ownership and control.

Full details of the budget will be carried in all editions of Tuesday's Times.

Whistle-Punks Make Comeback

Ladysmith may become the new girl-watching centre of North America.

In Rome they say, a playful pinch is a compliment. In Paris, the girl who isn't ogled would throw herself in the Seine.

And now in Ladysmith, the village commission has refused to interfere with the free expression of the wolf whistlers.

Commissioner Mrs. Kay Grouhel told the city fathers she had a complaint from a woman who drew whistles as she passed a loafers' bench outside Travelers Hotel.

Mrs. Grouhel said the commission discussed the matter and decided in favor of the whistlers.

"They hadn't actually done any harm. And the bench is on private property. We felt we couldn't remove it," said Mrs. Grouhel today.

But she suggested whistlers use care. A complaint to the police might bring charges of loitering or creating a public nuisance. And when you consider the size of some of those Ladysmith loggers, whose wives could be involved, one could be whistling to the common danger.

Panama Claiming Agreement With U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Panamanian government said today it has settled its political problems with the United States through a written agreement reached under the auspices of the Organization of American States. But the U.S. government withheld confirmation that this was so.

The United States was waiting for a definite proof that both sides place the same interpretation on the formula worked out by an OAS committee.

Spray Blamed For Decline In Blue Grouse

NANAIMO — Chemical spraying of forest lands could be the reason for the fast dwindling blue grouse population, Pat Flannigan told a meeting of the Nanaimo Fish and Game Club Saturday.

Game biologist Dave Hurn admitted there could be a loss of wildlife by chemicals improperly used.

"Regulations are necessary to control effectively use of insecticides," he added.

He said build-up of apparently harmless chemicals over a period of time eventually become lethal.

DUNCAN — Funeral services were held at First Funeral Chapel today for Colin Wallace Marrs, who was killed in accident at Skutz Falls, near Lake Cowichan, last Thursday.

He died of injuries received when his pickup truck toppled off a bridge into a creek.

Born at Hook, England, Mr. Marrs came directly to the Cowichan Valley in 1912. He was well-known as a prospector.

He served with the Canadian Scottish and Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry during the Second World War. He finished the war years in the Merchant Marine.

GANGES — An emergency 40 kilowatt power plant has been installed at Lady Minto-Gulf Islands Hospital here.

It was financed by donations and a grant for one-third of the cost from the provincial government.

GANGES — A sum of $200 has been set aside to hire a recreation director during the summer, Mrs. D. Deacon told the annual meeting of North Salt Spring Island Recreation Commission.

Commissioners elected at the meeting were: Barney Lukas, Ivor Ginn, Lyle Brown, Mrs. Dennis Deacon, and Mrs. A. M. Brown.

Help Asked On Centre For Indians

PORT ALBERNI — An appeal to all service clubs and organizations in the Alberni Valley to support a Friendship House for Indians was made Saturday by Mayor Les Hammer of Port Alberni.

The mayor said a heavy influx of Indians from isolated reserves on the west coast of V.I. is creating a serious social problem.

"These people are not trained or prepared to rapidly assimilate the hectic competitive ways of an urban community," he said.

"They bring with them many social problems notably severe housing and employment situations," he added. "The latter is due to the lack of training and education."

He said a friendship centre would provide an opportunity for interested people in the community to form friendships with people of Indian origin.

It would also help Indians to overcome loneliness for family and friends, he said.
